Meetings Continue Over Viet Accord

PARIS (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger met twice today with top North Vietnamese negotiators as they sought a final agreement to end the Vietnam war.

After a restricted morning session in a villa near North Vietnamese headquarters in the southern suburb of Choisy le Roi, a larger afternoon meeting was held in the village of Sainte Gemme to the west of Paris.

The morning session lasted 2½ hours. The afternoon talks started at 4 p.m. The Florida White House announced that the conversations will continue Tuesday.

Kissinger and his deputy, Maj. Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr., were at the morning meeting, along with Le Duc Tho, a member of the Hanoi Politburo, and Xuan Thuy, chief of the North Vietnamese delegation to the Paris peace talks. Experts were called in for the bigger afternoon meeting.

As his car pulled up to the villa at Choisy Le Roi for the morning session Kissinger said with a grin for reporters and photographers: "I thought this was supposed to be a secret rendezvous."

The house had been used for some of the previous meetings.

Kissinger and Tho met for 2½ hours, then broke at 1 p.m. for lunch.

There was no immediate indication whether they would resume the talks in the afternoon.

Xuan Thuy, the chief of Hanoi's delegation at the Paris peace talks, accompanied Tho to the meeting.

President Nixon's top foreign affairs adviser arrived Sunday night from Washington. He gave no indication of what he would propose to Tho, the Hanoi Politburo member Kissinger has been meeting with secretly during the past year.

They held their last meeting Nov. 25 and recessed their talks until today.

In the interim, a special emissary from President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam, Nguyen Phu Duc, visited Washington for meetings with President Nixon and Kissinger. Reports circulated in the U.S. capital that they told Duc North Vietnam would make no more concessions, and the U.S. government would delay no longer in signing the cease-fire agreement. Kissinger and Tho worked out in October. Saigon has been insisting that any agreement include a guarantee that North Vietnam withdraw all its troops from the South. But North Vietnamese officials insist the document be signed in its original form.

Dispatches from Saigon have indicated the South Vietnamese government may now be resigned to seeing a cease-fire agreement signed. Premier Tran Thien Kham has told Cabinet members and high-level department heads to prepare for this eventuality.

The official North Vietnamese newspaper Nhan Dan said Sunday that Vietnam is one country and demanded an end to U.S. influence in the South. It accused the United States of disregarding a pledge to respect the Vietnamese people's right to self-determination, and called the Saigon government's insistence on North Vietnamese troop withdrawals insolent, adding: "To satisfy these demands would mean to annul the agreement and prolong the war..."

The Viet Cong accused the Thieu government of drawing up a list of several thousand political prisoners to assassinate before a cease-fire agreement is signed.

In Bangkok, Field Marshal Thanom Kittikachorn, the chairman of Thailand's ruling military junta, said the United States will keep troops and warplanes in Thailand after a cease-fire in Vietnam in case the North Vietnamese violate the truce agreement.

"A violation of the cease-fire could happen at any time," he said. "How can we trust the Communists?"

Want Ad Ruling Pledged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to consider whether separate help-wanted newspaper ads for men and women are discriminatory and unconstitutional.

The court also: —Agreed to hear the Justice Department's appeal that unrelated persons in communes should not receive food stamps.

—Let stand a ruling reinstating a high-school teacher who was fired for wearing an antiwar armband in his classroom.

The Pittsburgh Press, in seeking the hearing, argued its "Jobs-Male Interest" and "Jobs-Female Interest" headings are simply a convenience for the job hunter.

The newspaper also contended that a Pittsburgh Human Relations Commission ruling against the headings violates the Constitution's First Amendment freedom of press protection.

The Supreme Court will consider the questions beginning with a hearing next spring.

The newspaper said: "That such column headings may prompt discomfort or dissatisfaction with some women or governmental authorities is not sufficient to prohibit their printing."

Study Nears Completion

of its study of public school facilities. The findings of the study will be published in booklet form at a later date. The Monday morning tour also included Jefferson, Whittier and Striped College Schools.

Countdown Continues

Apollo Strike Threat Overcome

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A strike threat out of the way, preparations for the last Apollo flight to the moon proceeded on a clockwork schedule today, encountering only the usual number of minor problems.

A proposed walkout by 60 aerospace workers had threatened to delay Wednesday's lift-off, but shortly before the Sunday midnight strike deadline, union attorney Bernard Mamet announced: "I'm very happy to report that there will be no strike."

Astronauts Eugene A. Cernan, Ronald E. Evans and Harrison N. Schmitt, sleeping later each day to adjust for an afternoon wakeup for the 9:53 p.m. EST launch, were to run through procedures for an emergency abort on the launch pad today.

Later in the day, Cernan and Schmitt were to rehearse in a mock lunar lander, while Evans worked in a command-module simulator and on orbital geology.

Cernan and Schmitt will land the craft named Challenger on the moon next Monday. Evans will remain aboard the command craft, America, conducting experiments from 60 miles overhead during the three days his comrades are on the moon.

"Boeing apparently opted out that discretion was the better part of valor, and they took our final proposal," said Mamet, attorney for the International Alliance of Theatrical and Stage Employees (IATSE), which represented the 60 nonunion workers.

The strike threat came from documentation workers who do such tasks as illustration, photography and technical writing under a Boeing Co. support-services contract. Their work is not essential to launch activities, but there was the danger of more critical personnel honoring their picket lines.

At midnight, as the count resumed, crews began loading super-cold fuels.

Progress Is Noted At Rival

Observable progress has been made by Rival Manufacturing Co., 16th and Lamine, in reducing the amount of pollutants emitted by the firm, according to the latest test results received by City Engineer Robert Cunningham.

The tests were the third in a series of analyses made for the city by the Kansas City Testing Laboratory since Rival began using new anti-pollution equipment in August.

The latest tests reflect the composition of water taken over a 24 hour period from 8 a.m. Nov. 20 to 8 a.m. Nov. 21. The results were released late last week. In adhering to the format of the two previous tests, the samples were taken of waste water discharge from Rival — raw sewage influent from the firm that entered the city's south treatment plant and final effluent from the firm as it entered the Breakfast Branch flowing into Flat Creek.

Under the city's industrial waste ordinance, maximum allowable amounts of chromium, copper and zinc are established for raw sewage influent. The maximum amounts of pollutants in the final effluent discharge are established by the Missouri Clean Water Commission.

The following sample results reflect those which have decreased from the previous tests, but in some instances they are still higher than the established guideline figures:

Waste water discharge (no maximum figures established): cyanide, less than .02, which reflects a reduction of 3.33 from the 3.35 recorded earlier; and copper, 5.5, which is .3 lower than the previously-recorded 5.8.

Raw sewage influent entering south treatment plant: cyanide, less than .02, which is approximately .1 below the maximum of .3; chromium, 2.9, still 1.9 over the maximum standard of 1; copper, 1.1, which edged over the maximum mark of 1; and zinc, .6, below the maximum standard of 2.

Final effluent entering Breakfast Branch: cyanide, less than .02, below the maximum standard; chromium, .4, .35 above the maximum mark of .05; copper, .4, .38 above the maximum standard of .02; and zinc, .5, below the maximum figure of .10.

Over all, figures in nine instances showed decreases over comparable figures contained in the previous test results.

Cunningham described the trend "as a real improvement" but noted that Rival is still falling short in some categories.

ITT Allende Target In Speech at U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Chile's Marxist President Salvador Allende today accused the International Telephone and Telegraph Co. of "attempting to bring about civil war in my country."

"That is what we call imperialist action," Allende said in a speech to the U.N. General Assembly.

He declared that both ITT and the Kennecott Copper Corp. "have driven their tentacles deep into my country and propose to manage our political life." The companies have been fighting nationalization of their properties.

Allende said it was "painful for me to have to come here to this assembly to denounce the fact that my country is the victim of serious aggression."

Allende, Latin America's first democratically elected Marxist president, was the only speaker at the meeting of the 132-nation assembly. He was elected in 1970.

Allende's main targets in his struggle with foreign interests have been the Kennecott, Cerro and Anaconda copper companies and the International Telephone and Telegraph Co.

His biggest fight is with Kennecott, whose El Teniente mine was nationalized last year. In a bid for compensation, the company has suits pending in Europe to prevent buyers in Western Europe from taking delivery on copper exported by the Chilean state corporation that operates the mine.

Lawrence Resigns Chamber Position

Citing "differences of opinion in our ideas of policy, goals and direction," Chuck Lawrence, executive manager of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, Monday announced his resignation from that post, effective Jan. 1.

The announcement was made at a 1:30 p.m. news conference.

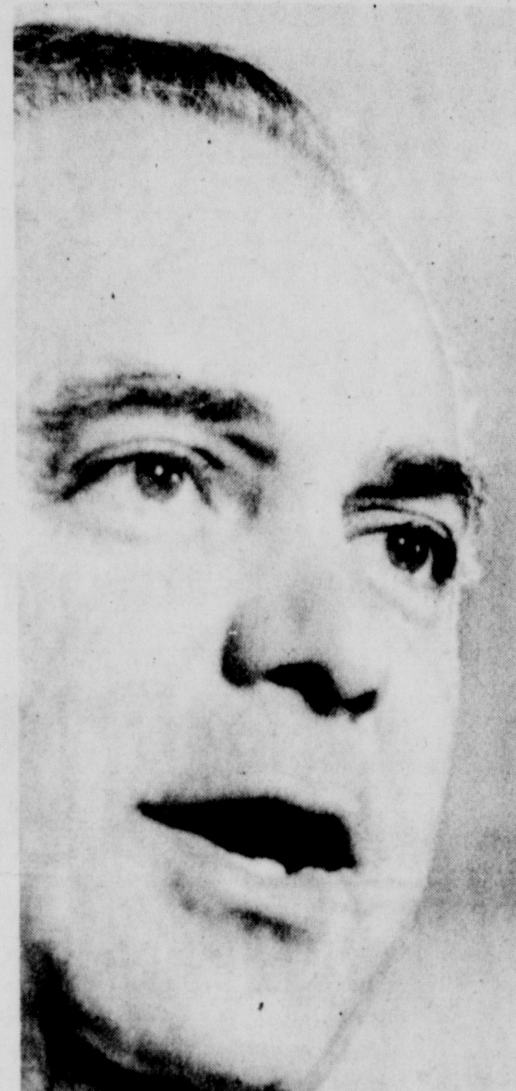

In a prepared statement, Lawrence said, "As our Chamber continues to grow and expand, there appear to be differences of opinion in our ideas of policy, goals and direction. Not wishing to hamper these policies as seen by the board of directors, I feel my resignation is necessary at this time."

He added, "If, under the leadership of a new executive manager, the growth and development of our Chamber can be accomplished, my efforts of the past four years will, in some way, have been reached."

Wishing the Chamber "continued success," Lawrence reported he had "no definite commitments or plans at this time." Lawrence was district manager for AAA in Moberly before joining the Chamber of Commerce here.

Democratic Leaders Want Westwood Out

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Democratic governors made their first move toward reclaiming their former prominence in party affairs by asking party chairman Jean Westwood to resign and endorsing Texan Robert Strauss as her successor.

But Mrs. Westwood said she wouldn't step down voluntarily if Strauss is the alternative, and Strauss said he wouldn't withdraw in favor of a compromise.

After these developments Sunday, Sen. George McGovern, the party's presidential nominee this year and therefore its titular head, said he supports Mrs. Westwood's suggestion that both she and Strauss drop out of the running.

The outcome is a likely fight next Saturday when the Democratic National Committee will be asked to resolve the impasse. Both Mrs. Westwood and Strauss claimed they will have the votes to win.

Mrs. Westwood conceded that she has become a symbol of conflict among Democrats but said Strauss had too. She called for a chairman "unscarred by differences of the past."

Mrs. Westwood was McGovern's personal choice for the job and has been under pressure to resign since his landslide loss to President Nixon in last month's presidential election.

McGovern chided Strauss's candidacy as "being advanced by some of the very elements who helped defeat the national ticket in November."

Strauss, a former national party treasurer, is running with the backing of the same general coalition of conservatives, Southerners and labor leaders which opposed McGovern's drive for the nomination.

Mrs. Westwood also has come to stand as a symbol of the controversial party reforms enacted this year, and Strauss's backers are generally for modifying if not rolling back the reforms.

Before the action by the Democratic Governors Caucus, Mrs. Westwood told the group she would resign in the interest of party unity if a middleground candidate could be agreed upon.

"I have the votes to resist any attempt to vacate the office of chairman and would proceed in that direction if such a contest cannot be avoided," she said. "However, my preference would be not to divide the party."

"This would require turning away from those individuals who have become symbols of the divisions within our party—specifically, myself, and Robert Strauss, a man who was a great treasurer of our party, and turning toward new leadership not scarred in the national intraparty battles of the last few years," she said.

"Ain't nobody going to take me out," Strauss responded. "I think Jean Westwood would do better to make a decision on what she is going to do and not try to pick her successor."

"I think Mrs. Westwood has offered a generous and wise suggestion for resolving the controversy over the Democratic National Committee chairmanship," McGovern said in a statement issued in Washington.

"I think Mrs. Westwood is right in asking that he (Strauss) withdraw his candidacy if she is willing to do the same," McGovern said.

Ann Landers

Homosexuality and Church Discussed

Dear Ann Landers: Do you have the courage to print a letter in your column that appeared in the National Catholic Register? It is a poignant and touching plea for understanding from a member of a minority group. Here it is:

Dear Editor: I cannot understand why the Church does not do more to help the homosexual. The Church is ready to extend Christian charity to the drug addict, the alcoholic, the criminal, the handicapped and the aged, but not to the homosexual.

I am one of the despised "outcasts" and I need help desperately. I've been to five psychiatrists, checked myself into two mental hospitals, and still I am unable to adjust.

I value my Catholic faith highly, but is it any wonder that so many homosexuals reject the Church when the Church rejected them first? It is bad enough there is no ministry to homosexuals, but there are even those like some in England, believe it or not, who want to brand homosexuals on the forehead. Lord have mercy. I cannot sign this letter for obvious reasons, but I hope you have the courage to print it. — From St. Louis

Dear Friend: It required no particular courage to print your letter. This space has, for many years, reflected many points of view. Please read on:

Dear Ann Landers: In your answer to "Gay Blade" you said, and I quote: "People are becoming more understanding and I say it's about time society stopped viewing all homosexuals as loathsome freaks."

ARE people becoming more understanding, or are they being brainwashed by a flood of articles and TV discussions that countenances homosexuals and lesbianism?

In the Old Testament, Leviticus Chapter 20, Verse 13, it says, "If a man also lie with mankind, as he lieth with a woman, both of them have committed an abomination; they shall surely be put to death; their blood shall be upon them."

Gay Blade describes himself as a 24-year-old homosexual who is happy and doesn't need any help. He does not consider homosexuality an illness and claims he's healthier than many of his heterosexual friends. If Gay Blade takes the time to verify the above Bible verse he might not feel so "healthy." — J.

Dear J.: The appropriate person to respond to your letter is a theologian. I enlisted the help of a Maryknoll Father, from Hingham, Massachusetts, an authority in translating biblical interpretation into modern-day language. He responded:

Dear Ann Landers: For Jews and Christians alike, passages like Leviticus 20, 13, declare that a deep and faithful heterosexual relationship is God's will for human fulfillment. Anything less than this is inadequate.

Biblical texts are always written out of a particular situation. Leviticus is part of a Law Code. It no more speaks to society's total responsibility to the individual than an isolated paragraph of the U.S. Criminal Code. The demand for the death penalty for an act of sodomy may have been part of a campaign to wipe out the pagan practice of male and female prostitution that periodically threatened to invade Judah's own worship.

I hope you can translate this explanation into something digestible for your readers, Ann. It will have been a privilege to repay the debt I, and other priests owe your column for fleshing out our own human and pastoral competence. — J.J.M.

Dear Father: Your explanation needed no "translation." It is abundantly clear and I thank you for it.

New Demand Increasing Wheat Price

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Foreign wheat demands are causing rises in the price of grain as sharp as those during the Russian wheat deal, a grain trade publication editor said here Sunday.

Morton Sosland, editor of Milling and Baking News, said the price of wheat rose 16 cents a bushel last week, equaling advances at the height of the Russian purchases.

And he said India has emerged as a buyer of grain, and China may want to make purchases as well.

"I really don't know whether we're going to be able to supply them," he added.

Sosland said many countries may not be able to afford the wheat if prices continue to rise. He said the Russians paid about $1.62 a bushel for hard wheat last summer and the price has gone up $1 since then.

Sosland says the Department of Agriculture predicts a carryover of 485 million bushels this year, the lowest in six years. He said a further drop would have serious domestic effects.

He said some West Coast bakeries have closed because the Price Commission has permitted no increases in the price of bread.

Sosland said all these factors should encourage farmers to plant a big crop next year.

Man Is Charged In Police Death

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Norman Pearson, 28, was charged with murder, assault with a deadly weapon and theft here Sunday in connection with the slaying of a St. Louis traffic patrolman who was shot in the head at a downtown intersection Saturday afternoon, police said.

Pearson, a St. Louis cab driver, was listed in serious condition at a St. Louis hospital with bullet wounds he received in an attempt to elude pursuing patrol cars after the shooting, police said.

Patrolman Frank Dobler, 58, died Sunday morning of a bullet wound of the head, which he allegedly received when he was shot by Pearson during an argument over a traffic violation, police said. Dobler was shot with his own service revolver, police said.

Another officer, Sgt. William Vorbeck, was fired upon, but was not seriously injured, police said.

THAT'S A LOT OF HAY

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — If all the hay used in a year at the local stock yards was stacked on a 100-bale base, it would reach a height of more than 456 feet.

Carleton Hagelstein Jr., president of the San Antonio Union Stock Yards, said it used more than 45,000 bales in 1970.

The total weight was 3.1 million pounds.

Survive Arctic Ordeal

SCOTT BASE, Antarctica (AP) — Raw penguin meat may not be a gourmet's delight. But for an American and three New Zealanders there was not much else to eat for five days while they jumped from one crumbling ice floe to another and worried about a nearby killer whale.

An iceberg also rammed them once. Finally a U.S. Navy helicopter rescued James Kenneth Lowry, 30, Richmond, Va., and the three other marine biologists Sunday. They were treated for fatigue, frostbite and snow blindness at McMurdo Station.

The engine on their boat had stopped Wednesday, and they drifted into pack ice.

Lowry said they had some food in the boat, but it soon ran out and they had to capture a penguin and eat it. The boat was abandoned when they had to jump from floe to floe as the ice broke up while lashed by waves and a southerly wind.

The men joked and sang to keep warm and their spirits up. To keep from freezing, Lowry said, they took turns patrolling around their floe.

They saw a plane Friday night and fired flares to attract attention, but they were not noticed. A British air force transport on its way to New Zealand saw them Sunday and called the rescue helicopter.

West Plains Man

Charged in Death

WEST PLAINS, Mo. (AP) — A 27-year-old West Plains man, Eddie Joe Roberts, was charged with second degree murder Sunday in connection with the fatal slaying of another West Plains man, the Howell County sheriff's office said.

Wilbert E. Martin, 58, was killed Saturday when he was slashed with a broken whisky bottle in a fight at a house.

Roberts, who was arrested shortly after the incident, told Sheriff Gene Jones that Martin had threatened him with a knife and he grabbed the whisky bottle to defend himself.

Awaiting Montana Fortune

BASIN, Mont. (AP) — The glitter of gold has been more in the eye than in the pocket of Delbert "Hap" Bullock in the past 10 years.

Working his own diggings, Bullock is one of a dying breed — a hard-rock miner. Now he figures that, after years of just getting by, his Crystal Mine is about to pay off.

Bullock is perhaps typical of hundreds of miners and prospectors throughout the West who hold claims on mining properties that were abandoned years ago.

But, with the price of gold rising slowly, individual prospectors from New Mexico to Alaska and from California to South Dakota are becoming interested and, in some cases, are reopening long-closed mine shafts or pouring more money into existing small operations.

Bullock and his brother John own 17 patented claims on a mountain east of the Continental Divide. After using an open-pit process, they now are going underground to follow a mineral-rich vein.

The underground operation, they say, will follow old mining tunnels and shafts that were started back in the 1890s.

Gold now is bringing about $60-$63 per troy ounce, far above the $35 price that the U.S. government tried so long to maintain.

Although gold is the glamorous metal, others such as silver, lead and copper are the workhorses of most small mines and pay for the smelting.

"Gold is the added benefit to the miner," says Steve Carkeek, a chemist for an assaying firm in Helena. Many miners, he says, are keeping their fingers in the business, hoping the price of gold will go up to $100 an ounce.

Bullock's wife, Sharon, says there is more to it than that: "They won't admit it, but they're all looking for the big strike."

The enormous horns of the bighorn ram are among the most remarkable in the animal kingdom. They grow in a continuous curve and in old males will come to a full circle, sometimes a circle and a half.

It Was Like This

"We went from here to here and I was scared to death!" said Snooks, a five-month-old kitten. He took a nap on a neighborhood car engine and woke up speeding down I-70 near Zanesville, Ohio, Sunday. Snooks managed to hop out unhurt but badly shaken. He now feels he's operating on eight lives and is very, very particular where he takes his cat naps. (UPI)

Council Studies Massive Revamp

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — America's biggest ecumenical enterprise, the National Council of Churches, Monday took up a sweeping reorganization blueprint aimed at making it more effective in what it admits is a stormy era.

Delegates to the council's ninth — and probably last — triennial general assembly take up the plan today, hoping to stimulate wider participation and create more efficiency and greater responsiveness to grassroots viewpoints.

Dr. Edwin Espy, the council's general secretary, said the objective is "a new style and a new organization" that will be "more obedient to the will of God and more responsive to the needs as the people themselves feel them."

This has been a chronic problem of the council, a cooperative body of most major Protestant and Orthodox denominations, whose stands on controversial social issues often have been derided by rank-and-file members as not representing them.

The proposed overhaul plan, abolishing the assembly and tightening up lines of control by church representatives on a new governing board, also would initiate closer liaison with regional and local groups.

As the five-day meeting went into its first day of deliberations, NCC President Dr. Cynthia Wedel told the approximately 2,000 church representatives that interdenominational cooperation was gaining strength, despite new difficulties.

"The very fact that all ecumenical schemes and organizations are being challenged and criticized and changed is evidence of life and concern and commitment," she said.

The council includes 33 denominations totalling about 43 million members. Its assembly opened Sunday night with a stirring worship service, featuring new hymns, banners and a modern-dance interpretation of Jesus' command, "Follow me."

Man Bound Over Until January

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — An Akron, Ohio man has been bound over for trial Jan. 22 in Douglas County District Court on charges growing out of an assault on a Bonner Springs, Kan. motorist who offered him a ride near Kansas City Oct. 18.

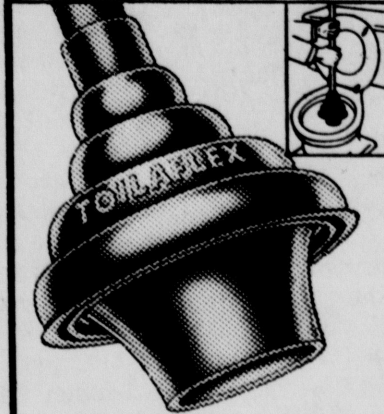

Arraignment for a companion was continued until Friday.

Bound over was Stanley Swistak, 25. Continued was the case of Howard Rose, 26, Akron. Both men are charged with aggravated kidnapping, aggravated battery and aggravated robbery in the shooting of George Wilkinson Jr.

Swistak and Rose appeared in court here Saturday. Both are being held on $100,000 bond.

Wilkinson was shot at least five times after picking up the hitchhiker. He told police he was robbed, shot and pushed

DEATH NOTICES

Mrs. Rachel L. Chaney

Mrs. Rachel L. Chaney, 80, 521 West 24th, died at the Bothwell Hospital at 7:50 p.m. Saturday. She had been a patient at the hospital since Aug. 27.

She was born in Sullivan County, Mo., Nov. 1, 1892, daughter of the late Jacob and Letissia Thompson McNabb. She was married at Wheatland, Jan. 26, 1912, to Jake Chaney.

She lived most of her life in Wheatland and in the Springfield area. She resided in Sedalia for the past 10 years.

Mrs. Chaney was a member of the First Christian Church, the Golden Agers Club and Home League of the Salvation Army.

She is survived by one son, H. J. Chaney, 4100 South Kentucky; one daughter, Mrs. Roy (Peggy) Raines, Route 3; one half-brother, John Martin, Wheatland; one half-sister, Mrs. Malissa Pentrufl, Toronto, Kan.; one granddaughter and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at the Ewing Funeral Home at 1 p.m. Tuesday. The Rev. Robert Magee, pastor of the First Christian Church, will officiate, assisted by the Rev. Richard Leach.

Larry Owen, soloist, will be accompanied by Mrs. Raymond Hall.

Pallbearers will be Earl Lashley, Charles Mawhorter, Thomas J. Ream, V. B. Eckhoff, Russell K. Evans and M. B. Marcum.

Burial will be in the Hermitage Cemetery.

The body is at the funeral home.

Thomas R. Chancellor

Thomas R. Chancellor, 77, 1705 South Osage, died at Bothwell Hospital at 1:35 p.m. Sunday.

He was born at Wheatland, Sept. 30, 1895, son of the late Benjamin Franklin and Ella Morton Chancellor. He married Miss Sylvia Elkins in Hickory County, March 1, 1919.

Mr. Chancellor lived in Sedalia 39 years and had followed the plumbing trade until his retirement in 1965.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Sylvia Chancellor; three sons, Thomas Chancellor, Kansas City; Robert Chancellor, Route 5; Melvin Chancellor, Cheyenne, Wyo.; two daughters, Mrs. Carl (Genevieve) Clayton, Canon City, Colo.; Mrs. Jim (Vondena) Huffman, Glasgow, Mont.; two sisters, Mrs. Mary E. Robinette, Weaubleau, Mo.; Mrs. Dulcie Madewell, Humansville; 17 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at the Ewing Funeral Home at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday.

Burial will be in the Memorial Park Cemetery.

The body is at the funeral home where the family will receive friends from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Tuesday.

C of C Christmas Lighting Contest Judging Date Set

The Chamber of Commerce's annual Christmas home decoration competition will be judged Dec. 21 this year, with two out-of-town judges and one from Sedalia making the selections. Last year, 28 homes were entered in the event.

According to Church Lawrence, executive manager of the Chamber, $150 in prize money will be offered: $75 for first place, $50 for second; and $25 for third. The fourth-place winner will receive honorable mention recognition.

Lawrence said entries must be made no later than Dec. 18 by either calling or visiting the C of C office here. All entries must be visible from the street, he said. The judging will begin at 6 p.m.

Five categories have been established for the entries: lighting, eye appeal, originality, theme and over-all appeal. Each category carries a maximum of 10 points, he said.

Robert Carl Fowler

LAMONTE — Robert Carl (Dick) Fowler, 83, died Sunday morning at Rest Haven Nursing Home in Sedalia.

He was born at LaMonte, April 23, 1889, son of the late Robert Lee and Nettie Taylor Fowler. He married Emma Shernaman, in July, 1914, and she preceded him in death in September, 1936.

He was a retired farmer and a member of the LaMonte Christian Church.

Surviving are five sons, William Robert Fowler, 800 East 16th, Sedalia; Harold K. Fowler, El Cajon, Calif.; James Lee Fowler, LaMonte; Walter Clayton Fowler, LaMonte; one brother, Clayton J. Fowler, Denver, Colo.; one sister, Mrs. Georgia Lee, North Hollywood, Calif.; and eight grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday at LaMonte Christian Church with the Rev. Roy Smith officiating.

Music will be provided by Mrs. D. I. Sevier, vocalist, accompanied by Mrs. John Eckhoff, organist.

Pallbearers will be George Martin Jr., S. O. Russell, Richard Mills, Robert Taylor, Jack Connor and Paul Steinkuhler.

Burial will be in the LaMonte Cemetery. The family will receive friends from 7 to 9 p.m. Monday at Moore Funeral Home here.

George Ardell Buchholz

George Ardell Buchholz, 68, Route 3, died at his home at 4:30 p.m. Sunday after suffering an apparent heart attack.

Mr. Buchholz was born in Benton County, Oct. 27, 1903, son of the late Herman and Nellie Schell Buchholz. On Dec. 28, 1935, he married Agnes Reichart. As a boy he moved with his parents to a farm six miles west of Sedalia and lived near there since that time, except for nine years when he lived northwest of LaMonte.

He was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

Mr. Buchholz is survived by his wife, Agnes, of the home; one son, George Albert Buchholz, Clinton; Mrs. Stephen (Beth) Rodewald, Green Ridge; one sister, Mrs. Alfred (Cecile) Ritterbusch, Slater; and seven grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Heckart-Gillespie Funeral Home with the Rev. Melvin R. Geffert, pastor of the St. Paul's Lutheran Church, officiating.

Chester Eding will be soloist, accompanied by Miss Mildred Brackman.

Pallbearers will be Roy Alexander, Leslie Robertson, Otto Rosebrock, Ernest Schlender, Robert Scotten and William Strelow.

Burial will be in Memorial Park Cemetery.

The family will receive friends at the funeral home from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Monday.

Mrs. Gracie May Botts

Mrs. Gracie May Botts, 89, 180 West Ave., died Friday at her home.

She was born in Albemarle County, Va., Jan. 19, 1883, daughter of the late William Henry and Christene Semantha Wood Austin.

In 1888 the family moved to Pettis County and later to Henry County. On Jan. 1, 1907, she was married to Elmer D. Botts of Sedalia, who preceded her in death in 1967.

In August, 1911, she joined Walnut Branch Primitive Baptist Church, where she and her husband were baptized by the late Elder John Teague. In 1929 they moved their membership to Sardis Church in Leeton. Her husband was a minister, serving as pastor of several area churches.

Surviving is one daughter, Mary E. Ferguson, St. Louis; and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Tuesday at the Heckart-Gillespie Funeral Home.

Burial will be in Memorial Park Cemetery.

The family will receive friends from 7 to 9 p.m. Monday at the funeral home.

Thomas L. Greening Sr.

Funeral services for Thomas L. Greening Sr., 82, 501 East 16th, who died at 10 a.m. Friday at the Kaweah Delta District Hospital in Visalia, Calif., will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the Newcomer Funeral Home, Overland Park, Kan.

Burial will be in the Johnson County Memorial Gardens, Overland Park.

Hint NATO Post For Rumsfeld

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — The Florida White House announced today that Donald Rumsfeld, director of the Cost of Living Council, will be nominated by President Nixon to be the U.S. ambassador to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

As U.S. permanent representative on the NATO council in Brussels, the former Republican congressman from Chicago will succeed former Secretary of the Treasury David Kennedy, who is resigning.

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon later would name a new chief of the Cost of Living Council.

Seek To Overturn Lt. Calley's Ruling

FALLS CHURCH, Va. (AP) — Lawyers for Lt. William L. Calley Jr. today sought to overturn his conviction for the massacre at My Lai, South Vietnam, claiming the Army had no authority to legally try the young lieutenant.

Calley's Army lawyer, Capt. Houston Gordon, argued that Calley was a reserve officer and only could have been retained on active duty by his own consent. This, Gordon said, was never given but the Army nevertheless went ahead with a court-martial.

In the hearing before the Army Court of Military Review, Gordon argued the Army's jurisdiction over Calley ended when he demanded to be released from the service, but the Army instead extended his active duty "solely for the purpose of trial by court-martial."

This was the opening argument in the hearing which was expected to take six hours with each side allowed three hours of argument.

Calley, who already has served 20 months of a 20-year sentence in house arrest at Ft. Benning, Ga., was not at the hearing. The Army last week denied his request to attend.

His lawyers claimed, in a 461-page brief, that 32 errors were committed in the course of Calley's prosecution and trial at Ft. Benning and that he was made the scapegoat "to insulate and clear the government and its policy makers of the responsibility for what has become an infamous incident."

The government countered that procedures were proper and that Calley "for the sake of expediency, determined to liquidate the unprotected people of My Lai 4."

Calley was a platoon leader in a three-company task force that sought to clear a Viet Cong battalion out of the My Lai area in Quang Ngai Province on March 16, 1968.

The Viet Cong were not there and the troops met no resistance, but hundreds of South Vietnamese civilians were killed in the assault. Calley was convicted of executing at least 22—one at a trail

Anticipate Routine Night For Council

If tonight's city council meeting at 7:30 o'clock in city hall proceeds according to projections by Mayor Jerry Jones and City Attorney Bob Fritz, city officials might still get to see some parts of the football game.

"Nothing major at all that I know of," said Jones when asked what upcoming business he anticipated. Fritz indicated an ordinance consolidating all city speed limit regulations into one law would be the only major item he will have for the council's consideration.

Fritz added that he will discuss the acquisition of some property by the public works department. He indicated he "was not at liberty to divulge" the location of the property.

City Engineer Robert Cunningham said bids will be let tonight on supplying the city street department with a new dump truck. Bids will also be opened, he reported, for supplying the city with 690 feet of corrugated metal pipe for constructing a storm sewer in front of the new junior high school on Ingram. Cunningham said the storm sewer has to be constructed before curb and guttering can be installed.

It was also indicated that discussion of revenue-sharing fund projects might possibly be renewed tonight. Jones, who is expecting the city's first revenue-sharing check soon, said he was gratified at the positive public reaction to the idea of establishing a city-owned ambulance firm with some of the money.

The results of a Democrat-Capital opinion poll, published Sunday, revealed that 69 per cent of those responding to the question favored the idea.

Honduran Army Overthrows Cruz

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) — The Honduran army overthrew President Ramon E. Cruz before dawn today and installed the armed forces commander as president for the remaining five years in the presidential term. No violence was reported.

Gen. Oswaldo Lopez Arellano, the commander, also overthrew the government in 1963 and served as president until Cruz was elected last year.

An armed forces communique said Cruz, 68, was under house arrest with "all necessary guarantees" and that his wife and four children flew to the United States on Sunday.

Minor Fire Damage

Sedalia firefighters were summoned to Crouch's Cafe and Tavern, 724 West 16th, at 12:29 p.m. Saturday to extinguish a grease fire. Firemen put out the blaze with dry chemical. Damage was listed as slight.

intersection, 20 at a ditch and an old man in monk's robes who came to him with hands in supplication. The same six court-martial members sentenced him to life in prison, reduced in review to 20 years.

The government charged 25 men with crimes ranging from murder to covering up the incident. Of the six tried, only Calley was convicted, leading his lawyers to argue in their brief:

"He carries with him not only his guilt, but the guilt of those who were not even tried as well. He has already been punished. The fingers will point forever. He will never escape the public eye."

The judges of the Court of Military Review—Cols. William C. Vinet Jr., and James D. Clause and Lt. Col. Wayne Alley—are expected to take at least several weeks before reaching their decision. If the sentence is affirmed, the lieutenant can petition the U.S. Court of Military Appeals.

President Nixon has said he will exercise his prerogative as commander-in-chief to make a final review once Calley's legal remedies are exhausted. On the President's order, Calley was confined in his apartment at Ft. Benning, rather than going to the military prison at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan.

Venue Change Is Granted Sedalia Man

A change of venue, a reduction of bond for two Sedalia men and an arraignment highlighted Pettis County Circuit Court activity Monday morning.

Dennis Ray Todd, 18, Route 2, who is charged with second-degree burglary and stealing, was granted a change of venue from Pettis County to Cooper County Circuit Court.

Todd's charge alleges that he broke into the Goodwill Chapel United Methodist Church, Route 2, on July 1, 1972, and took a small organ from a classroom inside the building.

The bond for two Sedalia men charged with second-degree burglary and stealing was reduced by Circuit Judge Frank Meyer from $7,500 to $3,500 each after a hearing in Circuit Court.

Attorney William F. Brown, representing Harvey G. Parker, 27, 412 North Washington, and Tony B. Trammell, 25, 804 North Missouri, requested Thursday that the bond for the two be lowered to $2,000 each.

Trammell and Parker are charged in connection with a break-in Oct. 20 at Gibson's store, 1020 South Thompson Blvd., in which handguns, rifles, jewelry and other items valued at $1,835, were stolen.

Magistrate Judge Frank Armstrong set the original $7,500 bond for the two men.

Louis N. Fosburg, Jr., 23, Lee's Summit, pleaded innocent to a charge of sale of amphetamines at his arraignment. Judge Meyer set the trial for Jan. 16 and 17, 1973, in Pettis County Circuit Court.

Fosburg is charged in connection with a lengthy narcotics investigation earlier in the year by federal, state and local law enforcement agencies, which resulted in five arrests.

He allegedly sold 194 amphetamine pills in Sedalia to two undercover agents for the Missouri Highway Patrol last January.

New Trial Asked By Local Company

A motion for a new trial was filed Friday in Pettis County Circuit Court by the Sedalia School of Hairdressing, 116 South Ohio, the defendant in a recent civil suit.

On Nov. 17 the K. E. May Refrigeration Service Co., 216 West Main, was awarded $1,718.73 in Circuit Court for payment of equipment and services allegedly owed the firm by the hairdressing school.

The company had originally sought $2,531.76 in the two-count petition.

The affidavit supporting the motion alleges that the Sedalia School of Hairdressing has "newly discovered evidence" which shows that the K. E. May Co. has received more money than the company testified it received.

Formal Charges Are Filed Here

Willie J. Spencer, 22, state of Alabama, was formally charged in Pettis County Magistrate Court Monday with tampering with a motor vehicle without the owner's permission.

Magistrate Judge Frank Armstrong set Spencer's bond at $2,500 and his preliminary hearing was set for Dec. 12.

Spencer last Tuesday allegedly stole an automobile here. It was reported missing by Sid Spector, Route 2. Spector's mother who lives in Columbia, owns the vehicle.

Spencer was apprehended in Buffalo, Mo., Wednesday and held by Dallas County authorities for local sheriff's officers.

Investigate Six Reports Of Thefts

Six theft reports and instances of vandalism involving motor vehicles were reported to Sedalia police during the weekend.

Ray Alford, 184 Colonial Court, told police that items valued at $300 were taken from his car Thursday night while the vehicle was parked at his residence. Reported stolen were two wheels valued at $80, two tires valued at $60 and a fiberglass hood valued at $160.

Two windows on a bus owned by the Jefferson Bus Lines were reported broken by rocks Friday night while the vehicle was parked at Griff's Burger Bar, Broadway and Massachusetts, police said.

Landy J. Moon, 525 Lafayette, reported to police the theft of a motorcycle Friday night as the vehicle was parked in the 400 block of West 16th. Police recovered the motorcycle about six hours later.

An eight-track stereo tape player was reported stolen from a car owned by Rick Rodewald, 809 East Broadway, between 9:45 a.m. and 11:30 a.m. Sunday at the parking lot of the East Sedalia Baptist Church, 1019 East Fifth. Police said a coat hanger or some other tool was used to unlock the car door.

A 12-volt battery was taken between midnight and 8 a.m. Sunday from a car owned by L. C. Lindencrantz, 1201 South Lamine, while the vehicle was parked in an alley behind his home.

Louis Kellner, 319 Hurley, told police a radio antenna on his car was broken Friday while the vehicle was parked in front of his home.

A floral wreath was stolen from a grave at Crown Hill Cemetery during the weekend, Leo Biggs, 208 South Washington, told police.

Divorces

Edna L. Smith was granted a divorce from Norman E. Smith Monday in Pettis County Circuit Court.

Perry D. Crabb was granted a divorce from Helen G. Crabb Monday in Pettis County Circuit Court.

Sharon Billingsley was granted a divorce from Earl Billingsley Monday in Pettis County Circuit Court.

Suggestion For Ordinance Is Opposed

Mayor Jerry Jones Monday expressed disapproval of City License Inspector Bob Brown's recent proposal that the city council enact a law making it mandatory for representatives from all city retail groceries and restaurants to attend food handling seminars "at least once a year."

Jones emphasized he did not oppose the seminars but felt "it's a bit arbitrary to demand that some groups be forced to attend meetings. I don't think this is the way to achieve compliance."

Brown had suggested the possible enactment of such an ordinance following what he termed "a very poor showing on the part of local grocers," at a food handling seminar last Tuesday in the State Fair Community College library.

Only three of the city's seven supermarkets sent representatives to the seminar.

Jones said he felt "the greatest good for all concerned will come from the city trying to help and inform and work with grocers rather than demand that they attend a certain meeting."

"The meetings are very helpful," Jones continued. "I don't want to see the city discourage any further ones but I don't believe merchants should be compelled to attend. It should be voluntary..."

15-Year-Old Under Court Jurisdiction

(Democrat-Capital Service)

WARRENSBURG — Charles W. Collins Jr., 15, involved in a fight at the Junior high school here Nov. 22 that resulted in the death of Peter Mitchell, 14, was placed under the jurisdiction of the Johnson County Juvenile Court Monday morning.

In an order issued by Circuit Judge Robert Russell it was found beyond a reasonable doubt that for his own welfare, and the welfare of others, Collins should be placed under the juvenile court's jurisdiction.

Russell noted a petition for corrective treatment, filed by Johnson County Juvenile Officer Wright Smith, and Collins, in his ruling.

The judge's order recalled testimony from a lengthy Friday hearing detailing the incident, which took place near the school's gymnasium.

The judge's decision indicated that there were no adults present at the time of the altercation, which began with an exchange of words and pushing and shoving. According to testimony, the decision continued, the Mitchell youth was struck in the back of the head by Collins' fist when Mitchell was in a crouched position. The decision cited the cause of death as ruptured blood vessels in the brain.

Mitchell reportedly was unconscious for two days after the incident before he died Nov. 24 at Johnson County Memorial Hospital here.

Russell said there would be no formal trial of the youth and that the boy would not be charged with any offense.

Nixon Wants Kissinger Types As Chief Aides

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer
KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon, moving ahead with plans to reorganize the federal government, seems bent on finding more Henry A. Kissingers to act as chief aides in handling problem areas.

As Nixon neared the end of a long weekend stay here, some observers felt he set the reorganization pattern Friday when he created a new Council on Economic Policy and announced Secretary of the Treasury George Shultz will head it with broad powers to coordinate economic powers, foreign and domestic.

Talking to newsmen at Camp David, Md., last week, Nixon promised sizable cuts in the White House staff, declaring that cabinet members would assume many functions formerly performed by people on the White House payroll.

Apparently in line with that statement, Shultz was appointed an assistant to the President as part of his new responsibilities. The treasury chief told reporters he will have the office in the White House as well as in the department he heads.

Although there has been talk that Kissinger may have overplayed his hand as Nixon's No. 1 diplomatic negotiator, there has been no sign from the White House that the former Harvard University professor has lost any degree of favor with the chief executive.

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler announced Saturday that Kissinger — with such top Nixon aides as H. R. Halde- man, John E. Ehrlichman and the press secretary himself — will remain on the job "in the second term."

Thwarted by the Democratic-controlled Congress in efforts to reduce the number of cabinet departments, Nixon apparently intends to name key cabinet aides to supervise "working groups." These groups would be responsible for helping formulate and carry out policy in key areas akin to the lines of responsibility that found scant support in Congress.

Carl Rowan Impulse rears head in sickle cell fight

Rowan

Sickle cell anemia has been ignored in this country for generations. As Sen. Edward Kennedy pointed out recently, cystic fibrosis is a disease which afflicts far fewer people than sickle cell anemia, but because cystic fibrosis attacks mostly whites, many times more has been spent to combat cystic fibrosis.

So, even though I have never known a single person who suffered from sickle cell anemia, I joined other Americans in wary applause when campaigns were launched that might provide a cure for what doctors

WASHINGTON — It seems that there is no program so noble or meritorious that evil or stupid people will not debate it and exploit it.

A case in point is the recent flurry of concern, especially by the federal government and the white community, about sickle cell anemia, an incurable ailment afflicting mostly blacks and people from the Mediterranean areas.

assure me is a horrible ailment. The applause was sustained, even when the Committee to Re-elect the President plastered the black community with claims that President Nixon had committed more money to fighting sickle cell anemia than any other President.

It seemed that a society which had massacred and debased Indians and brutalized and emasculated blacks was suddenly showing its face of compassion, of humanitarianism.

Now, sad to say, the sickle cell program is on the verge of becoming a new American tragedy.

Virginia and a few other states, and now apparently the District of Columbia, have, out of ignorance or venality, taken steps to confirm black suspicions that the sudden white fascination with sickle cell anemia is not compassion but a new technique for stigmatizing and circumscribing black people.

Let the record show that I have done my damndest to persuade fellow blacks not to let the paranoia which all us ebony

Americans bear as our state of normalcy drag us into a self-destructive posture where we assume that what we don't know won't hurt us — even if it means cancer, or syphilis, or sickle cell anemia.

But at no time have I advocated compulsory screening for genetic disease, or state dictation as to who can get married or have children. That raises a "super race" specter that no sane American ought ever endorse.

Tay-Sach's disease is a fatal ailment which afflicts Jews predominantly. But can you imagine Jews tolerating a mandatory state law requiring that every Jewish child aged 5 or older submit to a test to see if he or she has a "trait" for this genetic disease? Can you imagine a situation where the Jewish child's teacher knows the test results when the child's parents do not? Can you conceive of Jews tolerating a situation where insurance companies and potential employers and college admission directors are able to reject Jews because they are more vulnerable to Tay-Sach's than other Americans?

Mrs. Mona Blake, a member-at-large of the school board in Fairfax County, Virginia, has convinced me that this kind of abuse and misuse of tests for the sickle cell trait — not the disease, but the trait — is already a reality.

Virginia's legislature has passed a law making screening for sickle cell anemia mandatory. I want to make it clear that I oppose that law. It is an abomination.

I urge black parents to seek VOLUNTARILY the medical information and counseling which will enable their children to decide whether those rare few who carry the sickle cell trait and will marry someone of similar circumstance want to take the risk of having children.

But the Virginia law runs on the assumption that the trait, which of itself is harmless to the bearer, is some kind of dread affliction that endangers public health and thus must be quarantined. The District of Columbia is adopting the same foolish posture.

Blacks complain, properly, that in some states like Virginia, state and school officials know that a child carries the sickle cell trait when the parents have not been so informed. Blacks suspect, with justification, that a racist legislature, as that in Virginia has proven itself to be, will soon try to forbid sickle cell trait carriers from marrying.

The threat here is compulsion. I repeat, steadfastly, that sanity requires that blacks move voluntarily to combat sickle cell anemia. But just as I oppose compulsory sterilization, or a government decree that no couple may bear more than two children, so do I oppose compulsory screenings of selective groups of Americans for ailments that are stigmatizing, though not communicable.

If the White House is as concerned about sickle cell anemia as those campaign posters suggested, the President will quickly throw his weight against these state actions that confuse and contaminate what would otherwise be a laudable American endeavor.

A new syndrome: for police only

A San Francisco psychiatrist reports a new illness caused by today's social tension — "policeman's syndrome."

The status of a policeman, says Dr. Martin G. Blinder, has shifted abruptly from "straightforward and politically approved opponent of evil" to where he has now become the buffer between powerful social forces.

This new role, he says, is unfamiliar, complex and ambiguous, as well as politically charged. As a result, his police officer patients suffer accelerated heartbeats, sweats and lightheadedness.

Policemen are literally getting sick of being called "pigs."

Meanwhile it is interesting to note that on the college campus, where this lovely term was a favorite of the love generation, students are being mugged, raped and robbed with such "alarming frequency" that they are demanding more protection from campus security officers — police, that is.

So reported John W. Powell, executive secretary of the International Association of College and University Security Directors, at a recent conference at Pace College.

Maybe the kids are getting tired of calling a hippie when there's trouble and nobody comes.

"WE'VE BOMBED EVERYTHING BUT SAIGON - MAYBE THAT'S THE ANSWER."

Merry-go-round

An extortion plot against Hughes line

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — For a few tense hours last September, a small plane circled over a lonely area of the Southwest waiting for a signal to toss out a satchel stuffed with cash.

The plane was secretly dispatched by phantom billionaire Howard Hughes's airline, Airwest, to stop an extortionist from blowing up a passenger plane in midair.

The bizarre extortion plot, which authorities tried to hush up, began with an anonymous typed letter which arrived at Airwest's Phoenix offices.

Though confusing on some points, the letter indicated that a pressure-sensitive bomb, set for a certain altitude, was on board an Airwest jet. It was timed for an explosion 150 hours after Airwest received the letter.

To learn its location, the airline was to, within three days, collect more than $100,000 and send it aboard a small plane over a pre-arranged course over the barren stretches of the Southwest. The extortionist said he would signal when the satchel was to be dropped from the plane.

Once the satchel was received, promised the letter, the airline would be notified which plane was rigged with the bomb.

Wild as the scheme was, Airwest chose to take it seriously. To risk a midair explosion with passengers and crew aboard was unthinkable.

The airline has 20 jets operating over 9,000 miles of routes. As fast as they hit the ground on overnight stops, they were searched from nose to tail, from wheel well to cabin roof. Once searched, each plane was kept under 24-hour surveillance to prevent a bomb from being sneaked aboard.

Despite these precautions, the airline, taking no chances, assembled the cash. It was packed into a satchel and flown aboard a Cessna-150 over the designated course. The crew, ready to drop the satchel, watched for the signal which never came.

FOOTNOTE: Out of the incident has come both recriminations and constructive action. The Aircraft Mechanics Fraternal Association has protested that its mechanics were kept ignorant of the danger by the airline, FBI and FAA during the bomb search. Union safety director James Sparling is using the September scare to ask the FAA, FBI and Congress for guidelines in future cases. He is also asking the Labor Department to make it a rule that employees must be notified of bomb and hijack danger.

THIEU-KISSINGER FLAP — President Nixon entered into direct negotiations with the South Vietnamese after the U.S. embassy in Saigon reported that President Thieu had lost confidence in Henry Kissinger. He complained that Kissinger had accepted a draft, submitted by the North Vietnamese, in negotiating a cease-fire agreement. The proposed agreement, objected Thieu, was too hasty. It failed to take into account the complexities of the Vietnam war.

NIXON'S NEPHEW — President Nixon's 26-year-old nephew, Donald A. Nixon, has made the front pages, despite patient efforts by the White House to keep him out of trouble. He has turned up as a personal aide in the Bahamas to financier Robert Vesco, who has been accused by the Securities and Exchange Commission of attempting to divert $224 million in mutual funds to his personal use. The White House was apprehensive when young Nixon went to work for Vesco's company last year. The President had given his trusted aide, John Ehrlichman, the delicate, confidential assignment of keeping a wary eye on this branch of the family. So Ehrlichman took the Nixon nephew aside and spoke to him for a couple of hours, urging him to behave himself on the new job and do nothing to embarrass the President. There's no evidence that young Nixon was involved in any way in Vesco's alleged fraud. But Vesco paid him generously and tried to capitalize on the fact he had the President's nephew on his payroll.

PHONY ENVIRONMENTALISTS — Two conservation-minded congressmen, Henry Reuss, D-Wis., and John Dingell, D-Mich., have caught the federal government trying to pass off strip-miners as environmentalists. They discovered the National Coal Association, which has contributed so much to ecological spoilage, listed in a new federal directory of environmental organizations. Reuss and Dingell wrote to environmental czar William Ruckelshaus that "if the National Coal Association qualifies," then so do the oil, gas and other nature-destroying lobbies. They asked Ruckelshaus to halt distribution of the directory until the coal lobby was stricken from it. Ruckelshaus sheepishly complied, acknowledging that his agency had goofed.

EMBARRASSING DETAIL — Dr. Benjamin Ichinose, corporate president of a taco food chain in California, has been named in a federal suit alleging that the food chain discriminates against blacks. The suit comes at a most embarrassing moment for Dr. Ichinose. He was just appointed to serve a two-year term on the President's Council for Minority Enterprise.

A conservative view

Alarming picture in polls

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

WASHINGTON — If one theme occupied us more than any other, throughout the campaign year, it was the theme of public disenchantment. Let me return to that theme with some fresh evidence of what many observers have sensed but could not precisely define.

Kilpatrick

Alabama's Governor Wallace, one of the nation's canniest politicians, was the first to catch this feeling and to put it to use on the hustings. Over and over he spoke of the little guy who is "fed up to here." Fed up with what? Fed up with just about everything. The governor would tick off the little guy's grievances: schools, health care, soft-hearted judges, incompetent bureaucrats. The crowds loved it. As they say in the South, he had 'em noddin'.

Many top correspondents, notably David Broder and Haynes Johnson, wrote of this same mood. Everywhere one sensed a disenchantment with old institutions, a kind of alienation between the people and their government, a feeling of frustration that emerged as contempt. It was a malaise of the spirit, pervasive and contagious. We could diagnose the illness, but we could not chart the fever.

Four or five weeks ago the Harris Survey, one of the nation's most respected polling outfits, took this temperature. More than 1,600 households, chosen at random, were asked to state whether they had "a great deal of confidence, only some confidence, or hardly any confidence" in the leadership of 16 areas of public interest. The poll dramatically confirmed our impressions.

Let me take the press first, so this paragraph will not get chopped off if the column runs too long. Back in 1966, when the Harris survey asked the identical question, 29 per cent of the people had great confidence in the printed press; that figure is 18 per cent today. Twenty-five per cent had great confidence in television six years ago; that figure has dropped to 17. Some 21 per cent formerly had great confidence in advertising; only 12 per cent voice the same view today.

The figures are sobering, dismaying, frightening. Those of us engaged in communications plainly stand in need of relentless self-examination. It may be, in the case of TV and the press, that we are wrongly blamed for honestly reporting the deterioration of our society. The bearer of bad tidings historically is unloved. But there may be major flaws in the job we are doing. In any event, not even one person in five has "great confidence" in the media.

The shifts of public opinion in other areas are still more dramatic. Six years ago, 72 per cent of the people had great confidence in American medicine. The figure has slumped to 48 per cent. It is worse for banking and finance — down from 67 to 39. The scientific community has suffered in this bear market crash — down from 56 to 37. Only 35 per cent of those polled now express great confidence in the military, 31 per cent in psychiatry, 30 per cent in religion.

Harris found sad evidence of the public view of our educational institutions. Six years ago, 61 per cent had great confidence in education, but six years of campus activism, teacher strikes and busing have taken their toll. The figure this fall is 33 per cent.

Governmental institutions, as one might have predicted, show up poorly. Since 1966, the "great confidence" response has dropped from 41 to 27 for the federal executive branch, and from 42 to 21 for the Congress. Even the Supreme Court has fallen in public esteem, from 51 per cent to 28.

This is a terrible indictment, but there is no reason to challenge its accuracy. In each of the 16 fields, in both the private and the public sector, our leaders have lost much of the confidence they once enjoyed. A prodigious task of public relations lies ahead, but it misses the point to suggest that the nation's institutions launch a search for P.R. talent. They had better begin by searching their very souls.

Stalk rots in corn are showing up severely this fall, resulting in much lodged corn, very difficult to harvest. Charcoal rot infections are abundant, also fusarium-type stalk rots. These are the ones that show pink colored infections in the lower part of the stalks. These pink colored Fusarium rots are also showing up in the roots. In addition, Dephodia rots are also present.

Why so much stalk rot? Basically, prolonged stress periods during the growing season. The spring was late and it was wet, corn planted early was under wet, cool stresses and didn't move out. Later plantings actually were ahead of early plantings at one time in growth and vigor. Severe stress period were brought on by the prolonged drought and this coupled with fertility imbalance and high plant populations in a lot of fields just confounded the whole ball of wax. Different hybrids varied greatly with response to these conditions. Some held up well, others showed severe reactions. Another possible problem was the presence of Stewart's Disease in many hybrids, earlier in the season.

Potash is essential in good stalk production and growth. Low fertility plus high plant population plus stalk rots are a losing combination. Plant your soybeans on the light side and fertilize adequately with phosphate and potash. You will raise more beans than thick plantings and reduce some stress conditions in the process, advises Vic Carothers, Area Agronomist.

Sealing Leaking Ponds
A variety of materials can be used for sealing purposes. The most common commercial produce is Bentonite, a volcanic clay which is spread over the leaking surface and worked three to four inches into it. Thorough packing is then required. Bentonite and metaphosphates — which may be used — are expensive and require considerable work and care to use properly.

Most soils have sufficient clay to seal properly if puddled, or if sand or gravel pockets are covered with six inches to one foot of clay and then puddled.

Puddling can be done easily by a bunch of hogs wallowing in the pond. After the pond holds and fills with water, the hogs should be removed from the pond basin and kept out.

Puddling can also be done with salting or feeding cattle in the pond basin. A farm tractor can be used effectively while the basin is wet if enough trips are taken and the basin is not puddled too high above the water mark.

Unless water is brought over the puddled area, freezing and thawing, and wetting and drying action will destroy the puddling effects.

Spiders
The two poisonous species found in Missouri can be identified rather easily. The brown recluse spider is generally light brown in color, rather long-legged and has a dark brown "fiddle shaped mark" just behind the head. The body part of the fiddle points toward the head while the neck of the fiddle extends back toward the body of the spider. The black widow spider is shiny black in color and has a red hour-glass marking on the underside of the abdomen.

Spiders feed on insects, so keeping your home as insect free as possible will do much toward reducing the spider problem.

Use of a spray containing one per cent Baygon, two per cent Chlordane, five per cent DDT, 0.5 per cent Dieldrin or 0.5 per cent lindane selectively applied to corners of walls and ceilings, around light fixtures, in storage areas, and the basement will eliminate many spiders.

Some spiders are hard to kill and a household spray containing one of the above insecticides may have to be applied directly onto the spider.

Stocker Calf
In 1971, beef cow herds paid all production costs including a return to management of $7.71 per mature cow in the herd. Total costs include a charge for all labor (hired and operator) of $21.61 per cow, which provided a labor and management return of $29.32 per cow. To do this, each farm produced an average of 483 pounds of beef worth $167.55 per mature cow unit.

These facts are average data from 52 Missouri farms selected from 393 farms that participated in the University of Missouri's Mail-In-Record Program in 1971. Only those farms that produced and sold stocker calves were included in the study.

Cold Weather Concrete
Good concrete can be made and placed during cold weather provided precautions are taken to maintain mix temperature during the curing process. The critical temperature below which concrete will not cure properly is 50 degrees F and the length of time which curing temperature must be maintained will depend on the type of cement used. Type I portland cement requires temperatures above the 50 degrees minimum for seven days after placement of the concrete. Calcium chloride at the rate of two pounds per bag of cement is sometimes added to Type I cement to shorten this critical cure period. Calcium chloride does not provide freeze protection — it only shortens the curing period.

Type III cement, sometimes referred to as high early strength cement, requires temperature above 50 degrees F for only four days after pouring. For this reason, type III is most commonly specified for winter work.

The following suggestions for cold weather concrete work will help to achieve proper moisture temperatures initially and to maintain them after the concrete is placed.

Avoid the use of frozen aggregates.

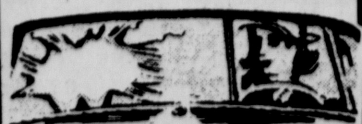

Heat mixing water but not over 180 degrees F or clash setting can occur. Mix cement and aggregates prior to adding heated water.

Do not place concrete in frozen forms or on frozen ground. Heat will flow from the mix and reduce temperature below the critical 50 degree point.

Provide frost protection after pouring. Concrete can be covered with a layer of hay or straw to reduce heat loss. Insulated forms can accomplish the same purpose. Another method is to cover the concrete with a temporary "tent" of plastic or canvas and add supplemental heat. Two precautions should be noted when using this last method. First, make sure the heat does not cause excessive surface drying of the concrete. Second, do not vent the products of combustion into the covered area. A chemical reaction between the cement and combustion products can weaken the surface of the concrete.

Beef Production Hike Races Population Trend

WASHINGTON (AP) — A foreign Agricultural Service report says that for the long-term picture, it appears that increases in world beef production will be racing against rising population and rising incomes.

More and more, it says, beef will be a world market commodity; shifts in production and in the direction of movement will largely depend upon world market conditions. Growing affluence in Western Europe, together with the European Community enlargement, will cause a greater pull on international beef supplies.

The report says Japan is likely to become a greater factor in the world beef market. It points out that retail prices of beef are higher in most of Western Europe and in Japan than in the United States, and says U.S. consumers are getting a bargain in beef by world standards.

In his report, Harold Sanden of the FAS notes that the European Community and the United Kingdom—two of the world's great beef markets—each has its own traditional buying pattern and its own specific needs in beef types. So also does Japan and the world's biggest beef market — the United States. Similarly, each of the world's four major beef exporters — Argentina, Australia, New Zealand, and Ireland — produces its own special beef types.

"All of the major beef markets except Japan are also beef exporters. They may cover the needs of one particular type, import a second, and export a third to countries that are short of that type but may perhaps export a different type," he says.

Beef, Sanden says, is not just "beef." That is, there is no single grade or cut of beef that can be used as an indicator common to all countries. "The typical U.S. consumer demands high-quality steaks and roasts, which require a fatter, higher quality of young beef from steers and heifers," Sanden says.

"But at the same time, the children in his family have fallen in love with the hamburger and the hot dog, and made them worldwide symbols of family-style American living," he says.

"Fully 46 to 50 percent of all beef consumed in the United States is ground beef; so the need for leaner processing beef to mix with the fatter domestic beef cuts has made the United States one of the world's most important markets for lean manufacturing beef," Sanden says.

Blaze Is Fatal

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — A Kansas City man, Gene Franks, 37, died in a house fire on Topeka's east side early Sunday.

Investigators said the fire caused an estimated $5,600 damage. Careless smoking was blamed.

Miss Susan Bullock, 22, 614 West Seventh, suffered numerous contusions and abrasions about the head and body after losing control of her car on Highway 65 at Route CC in Sedalia.

A Patrol spokesman said Miss Bullock apparently lost control of her car after going off the right shoulder. Her vehicle then overturned on its top and struck some highway signs.

Miss Bullock was treated and released at Bothwell Hospital.

Winter Kill Big Plant Problem

Winter brings with it a plant problem known as winter-kill. It attacks sick plants, over-vigorous plants, and most often, poorly adapted plants that have not been protected properly. It may cause leaf scorch, bark splitting, death of flower buds, death of branches, or sometimes death of the entire plant.

Under some conditions even very hardy plants may suffer some winter injury, but most often the main concern is with plants that are slightly tender. Included are the hybrid tea roses, hydrangea, chrysanthemum, azalea, and many broad-leaved evergreens.

Winter-kill is not a result of low temperature alone. Temperature fluctuation can be extremely harmful. When a tree trunk or branch is exposed to warm temperatures in the sun, followed abruptly by a sudden and severe temperature drop, bark splitting may result. Alternate freezing and thawing of the ground can be particularly harmful to shallow-rooted perennials such as chrysanthemums.

Cold, dry winds when the soil is frozen will make evergreen plants lose water from their leaves. They cannot replace this water rapidly under freezing conditions, and the leaves become dry and scorched and die.

Plants do not generate heat; therefore, the purpose of winter protection is not to conserve warmth, but to keep temperatures as even as possible and prevent drying of the plant tissue.

A loose mulch should be placed over perennial flowering plants such as chrysanthemums, delphiniums, baby's breath, or red-hot poker. Straw, cornstalks, or evergreen branches form a loose mulch.

Roses may be treated in several ways. First, cut them back lightly but avoid severe pruning until spring. Next provide some covering. Wooden boxes, baskets, or plastic cones may be placed over the tops. Soil may be piled up around the base up to about 10 inches. Wire rings may be placed around the plants and filled with a loose mulch of oakleaves or straw. Avoid a mulch of soft leaves that pack too tightly.

Broad-leaved evergreens close to buildings have less need for protection than those more exposed. Many, however, have fine, shallow roots and benefit from a thick mulch. Bark, leaves, straw, and many other materials may be used. Pile the mulch high around the stems, but do not cover the leaves of the plant. Remove the mulch promptly in the spring.

If tender plants do not have wind protection, erect a windbreak of burlap, lath, or similar material.

Anti-transpirants are also often used for winter protection against drying. They are available at many nurseries and garden centers. Spray broad-leaved evergreens with them in December and again in February. Thorough coverage is important.

Globe-Walking Brothers Ignored Warning; One Is Dead Now

NEW YORK (AP) — Two Minnesota brothers set out 2½ years ago to walk around the world in behalf of UNICEF. They were more than halfway to their goal—having covered 8,000 land miles—last month and might still be going if a gang of murdering bandits hadn't jumped them near Kabul, Afghanistan.

Now the survivor, David Kunst, is making plans here to pick up again where he and his slain brother John left off.

David keeps with him a handwritten note on yellow lined paper that John wrote as they trekked into eastern Turkey a year ago.

The brothers from Waseca, Minn., had been warned by officials about the dangers of the area in winter—danger from wolves and possibly from people—and John had jotted down his thoughts about their decision to go ahead.

"It's like a play," he wrote, "with all the actors playing their parts right up to the tragic ending."

Last Oct. 22, nearly a year after he penned the note, 25-year-old John Kunst played his part to the tragic ending and died in the dust along a road in a rugged gorge in Afghanistan.

But Dave, 33, back in New York and still recuperating from his own bullet wound from the bandit attack, is determined it will not be the end. He is busy in a United Nations Association office making plans to resume the march at the very spot where the bandits attacked to go on through Pakistan, India and China and then back to Minnesota.

He's even going to try to persuade another brother, Peter, to circle the second half of the globe with him on foot.

Dave and John originally started out in June 1970 just to do something for "education, experience, adventure," something that had never been done, the surviving brother recalls, but soon decided to give more meaning to their walk around the world by doing it to promote UNICEF—the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund.

"We thought about the peace movement," he said, "but then we thought if we walk for children, not too many people are going to say something against children. One lady in Ohio told us 'I've read about you guys. It's a great adventure, but you're walking for the wrong organization—it helps Communist countries.' We just said 'We're walking for children, not Communists.'"

A woman in Minneapolis gave them the idea of walking with a mule, not only to carry their provisions and call attention to their project, but also to ward off people thinking they were hitchhikers. So "Willie Make It" the mule joined them as far as New York, where they sent the mule home, got a plane to Lisbon and acquired "Willie Make It II" with the help of Portuguese tourist officials.

In Ankara, Turkey, they acquired "the greatest thing that happened to us in a year and a half," a wagon for the mule to pull, supplied by Turkish tourist officials. At an American Air force base 50 miles from Istanbul, officers provided them a cover for the wagon so they would have shelter when they stopped to eat or sleep.

"But we never rode in the cart," says Dave. "We have scrolls from every mayor of every town, stamped and signed, and everyone from truck drivers to tourist bureaus, testifying that we walked."

In western Yugoslavia, they had acquired a mongrel dog and named it "Drifter," but it was killed by Turkish sheep dogs trained to kill wolves. A newfound American friend in Ankara gave them another dog, and an embassy official arranged to have a little dog house built under the wagon, so the little dog could jump in and ride when it got tired.

Across most of Afghanistan, the American walkers had Afghan police protection, Dave says, and "John and I agreed that Afghanistan was one of the best countries we'd been through, as far as officials were concerned."

"They met us at the border, and sent police to check on us as we walked. At Hurat they gave us breakfast, put us up at a hotel, and the governor gave us an official banquet."

"The police followed us almost to Kabul, but we thought we had got through the dangerous part. We could have called for police protection through the gorge, but we never really wanted police. I can't explain it, but you want to do it yourself."

About 6 o'clock the night of Oct. 22, Dave suggested they pull the wagon off the road for the night. They were cooking dinner in the wagon when the dog began barking.

"John said there were six Afghans walking down the road," Dave recalls, "and I said 'Watch 'em.' We finished eating, and were sitting there talking when we saw headlights up the road quite a ways, and I said 'It's probably a truck broken down.'"

"About 9 or 9:30 I looked out a little peekhole and the truck had parked about 200 feet from the wagon, and I said 'It must be the same truck in trouble again.' Three guys got out and looked under the hood."

"Then John said the same six Afghans were coming back. I had a shotgun they had given us in Ankara for the wolves the winter before and I loaded it."

"When the six Afghans got by the truck, they seemed to rush over and grab the driver and his helper and I said 'I think they're robbing the truck.' They took the driver across the road and I asked John if I should jump out and shoot up in the air, and he said 'No, you're not in the United States.'"

As five of the men came toward the wagon, Dave argued with his brother over whether to shoot first, and after shouting the Afghan word for "Go Away," Dave fired the gun in the air.

"They jumped back and spread out," he said. "A shot was fired—I don't know why, I think it was a signal shot, and I said we should get under the wagon but John said no, we should walk up the mountain."

But before they could do either, more shots rang out and both brothers were wounded.

The bandits yanked Dave's wristwatch and belt off, and threw a mattress over him.

"I could hear them going through the wagon," Dave recalls. "Then the truck started up and it must have scared them—they took off. I went to my brother and tried to feel a pulse, but I had a feeling he was dead. I told myself I had to get help and I tried to stop several trucks, but they wouldn't stop. I thought of the mule and went back to the wagon and untied the mule, then stood on a water jug and tried to mount, but the mule wouldn't cooperate."

"I remembered we had gasoline, and I thought I'd spread it across the road and ignite it—then they'd stop. But in the wagon everything was scattered all over and I couldn't find the gasoline. So I went back to the road and went down on my knees, holding my side. I was really bleeding by then."

It was 3:30 in the morning before a jeepful of Afghan soldiers rescued Dave and took him back to Kabul to a hospital.

The bandits had taken clothing, a Persian rug given them by Iranian tourist officials, a gift bag from the Afghans, field glasses, a tape player, three cameras, and "of course, the shotgun."

They left behind the food, despite Afghanistan's drought and famine, because, Dave says, "They don't trust canned goods."

But the next day the wagon was still there and the mule was nearby, munching on the sparse grass. Willie Make It II is now in an Afghan stable and a UNICEF official in Kabul is paying out of his own pocket to take care of the mule and wagon until Dave can start the second half of the trip.

His greatest pleasure on returning to the United States was to find out that his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Al Kunst of Clear Lake, Iowa, approve of his plan to go on.

Asked why he wants to, Dave pulls out another scrap of yellow paper on which John had written that there were many reasons for the trip.

"But of them all," John wrote, "The search is the most important."

People In The News

WASHINGTON (AP) — Washington Redskins quarterback Billy Kilmer says President Nixon is "really hurting us" by being a vocal fan of his hometown team.

In a Washington Post article Sunday, Kilmer was quoted as saying the President is "something else. He calls all the time. He even called the coach on election night to talk about the game."

Kilmer said comments favoring the Redskins prior to a game hurt the team.

"He told some guy from Cleveland he met in New York that Cleveland had a good team but they had quarterback problems. Then Cleveland gets all psyched up, and they're much harder to beat. I think I'm going to ask (coach) George Allen to tell the President not to talk about a game until after we've played it," he said.

WARSAW (AP) — Sen. Hubert Humphrey has been thanked for his work in creating the American Children's Hospital in Krakow.

"You are especially welcome here because your feelings have been well demonstrated in this hospital you did so much to build," Krakow Mayor Jerzy Pekala told the Minnesota Democrat Sunday.

Humphrey, a member of the foundation which built the hospital, is on a tour of Poland. He is scheduled to meet with high government officials today.

NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP) — Acting FBI Director L. Patrick Gray III has been described as in good condition following his release from Lawrence and Memorial Hospital. Gray spent two weeks in the hospital for surgery to correct an intestinal obstruction. He was released Sunday.

SAIGON (AP) — Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., is here for an update on the current South Vietnamese situation.

Percy said Sunday he is "ever hopeful" of a cease-fire in the very near future but said the settlement must be "total and complete. It must be a negotiated one and for every-

Telecast Of Game Sabotaged

NEW YORK (AP) — The Columbia Broadcasting System says it canceled its scheduled telecast of the New York Jets-New Orleans Saints football game from Shea Stadium because camera cables were cut and a repair crew was assaulted.

Sunday's cancellation marked the second time CBS has been forced to drop planned coverage of a game from the stadium since technicians struck the network Nov. 3. The Jets-Washington Redskins game was blacked out by cut cables Nov. 5.

The Jets management said it "instructed CBS" to drop coverage of the game after about 200 unionized ticket sellers, ushers and other workers refused to enter the stadium because of the presence of a non-union CBS crew.

CBS spokesmen said the Jets could only "request" a cancellation and that the network made the decision after a repair crew tracing a disabled line became involved in a physical encounter with 30 to 35 men outside the press box.

In an on-the-air statement, CBS did not accuse the union of sabotage but said the game was canceled because of violence and destruction of equipment "in support of the strike against CBS by Local 1212 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers."

one and that means no more killing on any side."

Percy, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, is on a fact-finding tour of several Asian countries.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — President Salvador Allende of Chile has reacted bitterly to criticism of his policies by California Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Interviewed here before leaving for New York and a visit to the United Nations, Allende was asked to comment on Reagan's statement that a government cannot be a little bit Marxist and a little bit socialist.

"He was a boxer before, wasn't he?" Allende asked. Told Reagan is a former actor, he said, "Culture never goes along with some expressions of art, especially movie stars." He said he would send Reagan a book on Marxism.

Ten Perish In Missouri Accidents

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
At least 10 persons were killed on Missouri highways over the weekend — half of those on Sunday.

Peggy Thorne, 20, Independence, Mo., was killed Sunday night in a two-car crash three miles south of Humansville on Highway 13 in Polk County.

Jerry R. Spencer, 17, Holts Summit, and a passenger in his car, Linda Gibson, 16, of Ashland, were killed Sunday in a head-on crash on Boone County Rt. A about 15 miles south of Columbia.

A 69-year-old Kahoka, Mo. woman, Erma Lela Arment, was killed when the car she was driving skidded on an icy Clark County road into a U.S. 136 intersection and the path of a second vehicle.

Also killed Sunday was Will Calvert, 49, St. Louis, who was struck by a hit-and-run driver on St. Louis' west side.

Killed Saturday were: James Jones, 56, and Cleophus Gordon, 26, both of Kansas City, in a two-car collision on the city's east side.

Mrs. Elva O. Hughes, 28, Middletown, Mo., and her daughter, Audrey K. Hughes, 7, in a three-car collision on Missouri 161 near Middletown.

Lonnie G. Richardson, 26, Lebanon, Mo., in a one-car accident on a county road near Bennett Springs.

Says Troop Level Dips To 25,500

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. troops strength in Vietnam dropped to 25,500 men last week, well below the ceiling of 27,000 men President Nixon set for Dec. 1, the U.S. Command announced today.

This represented a drop of 2,500 men in the week of Nov. 24-30, the largest weekly decrease since 3,200 men left in the week of Aug. 11-17.

The Defense Department said last week that troop withdrawals would continue on a limited basis but without any advance announcement. Pentagon officials said this would give the United States more flexibility in the cease-fire negotiations in Paris.

In addition to the 25,500 men still in the country, about 100,000 Americans are fighting the war from air bases in Thailand and Guam and from U.S. Navy ships off the coast of Vietnam.

Redskins, Oakland Win Division Titles

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

"We've fulfilled our immediate goal ... but now we've got to go on from there," Washington Coach George Allen said.

The immediate goal was a championship, something the Redskins hadn't achieved in 27 years. They achieved it Sunday, locking up the East Division crown of the National Conference by beating surprisingly scrappy Philadelphia 23-7. It was the same Eagles club which, only a week ago, had rolled over, played dead and been stampeaded 62-10.

The Pittsburgh Steelers, who have never won a title of any kind in their 40 years in the National Football League, took a giant step toward the American Conference's Central Division title by thrashing Cleveland 30-0 to take a one-game lead over the Browns with two to go.

The Green Bay Packers, expected by most preseason observers to be mere bystanders in a National Conference Central struggle between Detroit and Minnesota, regained a one-game lead in the division by clubbing the Lions 33-7, dumping them back into a second-place tie with the Vikings.

Oakland also clinched a division title, its fifth in six seasons, edging San Diego 19-17 to take a 2½-game lead in the American Conference West with two games remaining.

In Sunday's other NFL games, unbeaten Miami made it 12 in a row by defeating New England 37-21, Minnesota beat Chicago 23-10, Cincinnati nipped the New York Giants 13-10, Atlanta trimmed Houston 20-10, Dallas shelled St. Louis 27-6, Kansas City nosed out Denver 24-21, Baltimore bombed Buffalo 35-7 and the New York Jets squeezed past New Orleans 18-17. The San Francisco 49ers host the Los Angeles Rams in tonight's game.

Also on Sunday, the Hamilton Tiger-Cats beat the Saskatchewan Roughriders 13-10 for the Grey Cup in the pro football championship of Canada.

The aroused Eagles held NFL rushing leader Larry Brown to just 70 yards, forcing quarterback Billy Kilmer to rely on Charley Harraway for the key ground gains. Harraway finished with 77 yards, one of them on Washington's first-half touchdown. But the 'Skins locked it up in the second half as Curt Knight, who had a first-half field goal, booted two more and Kilmer tossed two yards to Charley Taylor.

Three Rivers Stadium in Pittsburgh was in a constant uproar as the oft-frustrated Steelers avenged a 26-24 loss to the Browns they suffered two weeks ago.

The Steelers' star once again was rookie Franco Harris, who rushed for 102 yards and a pair of touchdowns. It tied Jim Brown's record of six straight 100-yard-plus games and put him within 40 yards of becoming the fifth pro rookie to reach 1,000.

After Chester Marcol got the Packers moving with three of his four field goals, Ken Ellis shifted them into high gear with two interceptions which set up a pair of John Brockington touchdown runs and sent Detroit reeling.

Charlie Smith's nine-yard touchdown sweep with about a minute to play provided Oakland's margin of victory over the Chargers. Daryle Lamonica passed 16 yards to Ray Chester and 36 to Fred Biletnikoff for the Raiders' other touchdowns, but they didn't really lock the game up until Dennis Partee, who earlier had missed a 33-yard field goal, failed on a 51-yard attempt on the final play.

Earl Morrall passed for touchdowns of three yards to Jim Mandich and 14 to Marlin Briscoe. Garo Yepremian booted three field goals and Larry Csonka, grinding out 91 yards, exceeded the 1,000-yard mark for the second straight season as the Dolphins, by beating the Patriots, moved within two victories of a perfect year, a feat last performed by the 1942 Chicago Bears in an 11-game season.

Bobby Bryant blunted one Chicago threat with an interception in the end zone, then ran back a fumble 24 yards for a touchdown to lead the Vikings to victory.

Reserve linebacker Doug Adams intercepted two passes to slow down the Giants and Ken Anderson flipped a three-yard scoring pass to Bruce Coslet late in the third quarter to key the Bengals' victory. It gave them a 13-3 lead, enough to withstand Randy Johnson's eight-yard touchdown pass in the final period.

The Falcons, remaining in the thick of the NFC West race with the 49ers and Rams, got a pair of touchdown runs from Dave Hampton to send the Oilers skidding in their 11th loss in 12 games, a feat which, if the trend continues, will give Houston the No. 1 pick in next year's collegiate draft.

Running back Walt Garrison got all three Dallas touchdowns, running for three yards and hauling in scoring passes of 18 and 23 yards from Craig Morton as the Cowboys strengthened their playoff chances by flipping the fumbling Cards.

Marty Domres threw for three touchdowns and ran for a fourth but it was Johnny Unitas who once again won the hearts of the Colts' fans, watching their final home game of the season. "We want John, we want John!" they shrieked as Domres, injured on his scoring run against the Bills, limped off the field.

Unitas, sent in by Coach John Sandusky and given an ovation as he trotted into the huddle, responded by heaving a 63-yard scoring strike to Eddie Hinton, then trotted off to more thunderous cheers.

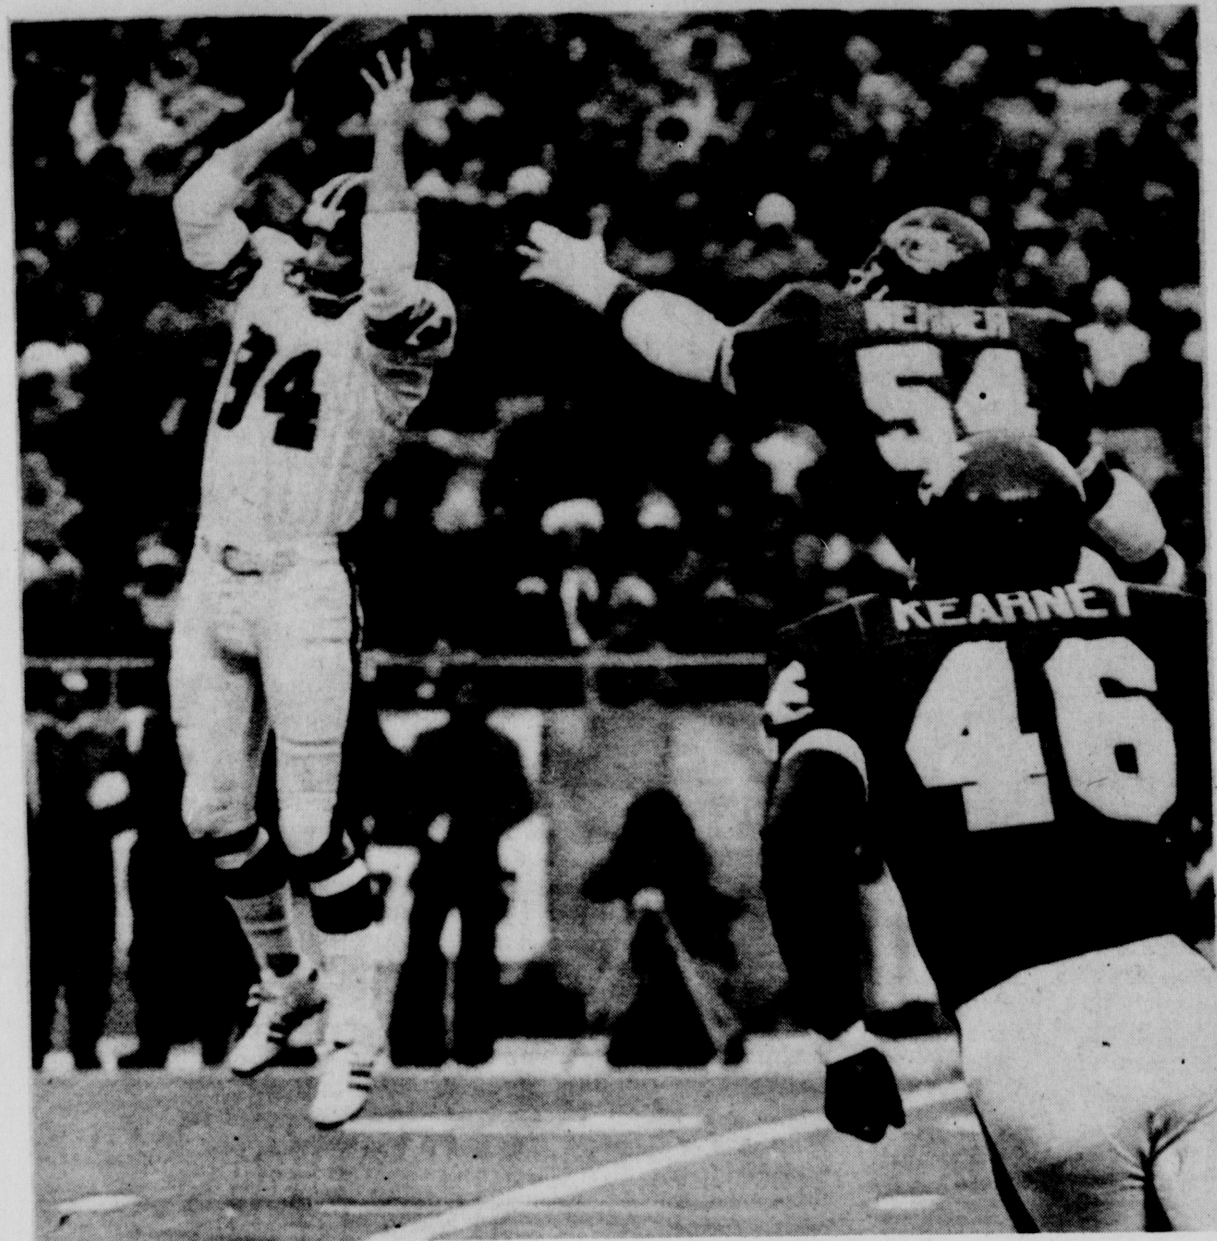

Bobby Howfield, celebrating his birthday, gave the Jets a present—six field goals including the game-winning 42-yarder as the final gun sounded to overtake the Saints.

Perez Wins Crown

TIJUANA, Mexico (AP) — Ernesto Perez, a 26-year-old pro who was born here, won the $20,000 Tijuana Open golf tourney Sunday with a final round par 72 for a 54-hole total of 216. Chick Courtney and Barry Jaekel tied for second at 217.

Veteran Victor

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — Veteran Pancho Segura, 51, of Los Angeles, won the National Senior Hardcourt Tennis Championship Sunday by defeating 54-year-old Bobby Riggs 6-0, 6-2 in the tournament final.

Valuable Yardage

Denver's Rod Sherman (84) grabs a pass in the first quarter against the Kansas City Chiefs as Clyde Werner (54) and Jim Kearney defend on the play. In addition, Kansas City was penalized for a personal foul and

Denver was set up for their first touchdown of the contest a couple of plays later. The Chiefs managed a win, 24-21. It was only their second of the season in their new home, Arrowhead Stadium. (UPI)

It's Kansas City, 24-21

Defense Lifts Chiefs Over Denver Broncos

By ROBER MOORE
Associated Press Sports Writer

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City Chiefs may be dead most ways but their defense is still alive.

The defense accounted for every touchdown as the Chiefs came from behind Sunday to defeat the Denver Broncos 24-21 in an American Football Conference West Division game.

Safety Jim Kearney and linebacker Bobby Bell, both former quarterbacks, intercepted Charley Johnson's passes and ran them back for touchdowns. Kearney ran 29 yards and Bell 61.

Kearney, who has four touchdown interceptions this season that tie a National Football League record, said he "felt it coming. I just flew out there and got it. It was sort of wobbly ..."

Bell said he wants to "make touchdowns. I didn't try any fancy stuff. You end up fumbling that way."

Johnson almost handed the Chiefs, who didn't make a first down until the game was 20 minutes, 55 seconds old, their other touchdown. He went back to pass and let the ball fall out of his hand.

Tackle Curley Culp recovered it on the Denver 14. Ed Podolak turned right end five plays later from a yard out for the touchdown.

Even with the victory, the Chiefs, preseason favorites to win the West, bowed out of contention for the title after Oakland's 21-19 victory over San Diego but do cling to a slim hope of grabbing the fourth AFC playoff spot.

"It's great to win again," said Coach Hank Stram, whose team had dropped three in a row. "Bobby made a great run on his interception. I couldn't see real well but it looked like some people had angles on him and he simply outran 'em. Kearney's interception was a great one, too."

Denver marched 76, 80 and 76 yards for its touchdowns, scored on Floyd Little's two-yard run, a one-yard pass from Johnson to Haven Moses and

Kusnyer 'Cat Key To Title Defense

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP) — Coach Jack Hartman puts the finger on one player as a major key in Kansas State's bid to repeat as Big Eight Conference basketball champion.

The player is Ernie Kusnyer. "Kusnyer did not have a good year last season," Hartman notes. "Not only did he not shoot well, he didn't play well either. He's got to shoot well for us to be a good threat."

Hartman also has another problem. With the season barely under way, Larry Williams, who Hartman says has the potential to be the Wildcats' all-time great forward, suffered a hairline fracture of his right foot a week ago. He will miss some games.

Besides Kusnyer and Williams, the Wildcats have six other lettermen back, including two crack guards, Lon Kruger and Danny Beard. The others are Steve Mitchell, Bob Chipman, Gene McVey and Lindbergh White. White did not report for basketball until the Wildcat football team completed its season.

Hartman also knows that Mitchell must come through for the Wildcats, ranked 17th in the preseason ratings, to be a strong club. Mitchell is the center.

"You start with a basketball team at the pivot," Hartman points out. "Steve Mitchell is a very talented young man. Inconsistency has been Steve's problem up to this point (through last season). I'm optimistic. I think he's going to have a very good year."

Hartman is concerned about the Wildcats' lack of depth at forward and the team's shooting. Even though Kansas State won the title last season, the Wildcats were last in free throw shooting and fifth in firing from the floor.

Hartman says the team's defense in the race a year ago "carried us and was the foundation of our basketball team. The difficulty we had last year in shooting free throws indicates that we're not a good shooting ball club which makes it tough to win. But we're going to be improved."

The Wildcats, who won 19 and lost nine last season, may get some help from the freshmen, who are eligible for varsity competition this year. One of them, Jerry Thruston, filled in for Williams Friday night and helped the Wildcats down Eastern Kentucky 87-59.

The 6-foot-6 Thruston scored 12 points and grabbed five rebounds before fouling out with slightly over six minutes left.

The Wildcats lost only two of their 14 conference games in winning the Big Eight trophy.

"I think we're going to have a good basketball team," concludes Hartman, now in his third year at the Wildcat helm. "The conference, of course, is going to be tough because it's so difficult to win on the road. The over-all play is going to be improved."

Ask USOC To Change Definition of Amateurs

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The United States Olympic Committee has been called upon to adopt a code liberalizing the definition of amateur athletes. The request was in the form of a resolution passed Saturday by the Board of Governors of the Amateur Athletic Union.

The new definition of "amateur" would mean an athlete would be considered a professional only if he received money for actual athletic competition.

"It would appear that if our definition is accepted," a spokesman said, "amateur athletes would be permitted to endorse products, author books and be employed as coaches. None of these is permitted under the present amateur code.

Moreover, the rule would permit a professional athlete in one sport to compete as an amateur in another.

Earlier Saturday the board rejected adoption of the definition because to do so ahead of the international sporting federations or the International Olympic Committee would jeopardize the standing of thousands of U.S. amateur athletes presently in competition.

'Wildcats Finish Third

Skyline Tigers Repeat at Warsaw

By WARREN RIPLEY
Staff Sports Writer

"They don't make any mistakes. Fantastic defensive ball club. They are by far the best team we have played."

Such were the accolades bestowed on the Skyline Tigers, who successfully defended their Warsaw Invitational Tournament title for the third year in a row, by a disconsolate Larry Ficken, first-year LaMonte head coach.

"That (Jacky) Payne kid is a great player," stated Ficken. "Jerry Bybee helps increase his (Payne's) effectiveness with his ball-handling and shooting."

Payne and Bybee turned in fantastic performances in leading the Skyline Tigers to a victory over the LaMonte Vikings Saturday in the 40th-annual event, 63-49.

The other Tiger players cleared the floor allowing Bybee and Payne to work one-on-one throughout the night. Payne hit from the outside and Bybee drove inside to score a combined total of 51 points for the victors.

In the third place contest, Warsaw scored an upset victory over Stover, 49-40, to snatch third. Stover, who was seeded first, was on the receiving end of an upset for the second time in three nights never seemed to get untracked during the game despite the excellent play of 6-3 Phillip Marriott.

Once again 6-6 Doug Stevens was the hero for Warsaw. The big center, who was the tournament's leading scorer with 83 total points, controlled the boards and tallied 24 points for the victors. Warsaw never trailed in the contest after jumping out to a 5-0 lead early in the game.

LaMonte and Skyline battled to a 27-27 deadlock in the first half, but the third quarter saw Skyline slowly pull away after all-district junior guard "Buggar" Bennett picked up his third foul. Also the Tiger five began heating up from the outside with all the Bengals getting in on the act. They outscored LaMonte 22-13 in this quarter of play to take a 49-40 lead.

In the fourth period the scrappy LaMonte squad, which wasn't seeded in the tournament, buckled down and started matching the Tigers once again. Then disaster struck the Vikes. With 6:29 remaining and LaMonte down by eight, Bennett committed his fifth personal.

That was all the Bengals needed to insure their victory. But not without a fight. The young Vikings refused to quit. They played just as hard in the remainder of the contest but the more experienced Skyline squad proved too much for the Vikes.

"I knew LaMonte would be tough," quoted Skyline coach Dale Kimberling. "That is the only team we've played that was as quick as we are. I told my kids that LaMonte had the quickest guards that they would play against and they proved it."

In the consolation bracket, the Clinton Cardinals defeated the cold-shooting Cole Camp Bluebirds, 61-43 after a nip-and-tuck first half in which the teams were separated by only two points, 22-20 in the Cards favor.

Clinton's Harold Brown hit for 17 points before retiring from the game with five fouls with 3:11 left in the game. Brown was a consistent performer throughout the tournament for the Cards.

Jack Nicklaus ...

Sets 1973 Goal

Nicklaus Wins 13th Major Golf Crown

LAKE BUENA VISTA, Fla. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus had just closed the most spectacular year of his fantastic career with a victory in the Walt Disney World Open Golf Tournament and was considering his goals for 1973.

"The first goal," he mused, "well, that'd be No. 14 at Augusta, in the Masters."

He referred to his collection of 13 major championships, a record he shares with the late Bobby Jones. A victory at Augusta, Ga., in the spring would be the 14th, putting him on a plateau alone above all the other men who have played this old game.

His more general goals are even more awe-inspiring.

"I don't think there's any question this is the best year I've had," said Nicklaus, winner of the U.S. Open, the Masters, five other titles and a whopping record of $320,542.

The seventh title and $30,000 came Sunday when he forged a front-running eight-under-par 64 for a 267 total and a nine-stroke victory. The 72-hole total and the victory margin both were tour records for the season.

"The year was better than last year," he said, paused a moment and added:

"But I'd certainly hope next year is better."

Nicklaus' season was one of the finest the game has seen. He won seven of his 20 starts and was second in four others, once in the British Open. He won Golfer-of-the-Year honors. His stroke average of 70.23 was by far the best on the tour. He won a record-matching fourth Masters and a record-matching 13th major career title.

And he wants to improve. "Right now," said Sam Snead, a 60-year-old living legend, "he's got the best attitude and the best talent in the game. He's picked up all the options."

Snead provided what little excitement there was on the final round as Nicklaus made a rout of it. Snead ambled over the 7,222-yard Magnolia course with a 65 that put him among the leaders at 278, a distant 11 strokes back of Nicklaus' 21-under-par total.

Jim Dent, a 30-year-old one-time caddy at Augusta National and one of the few blacks playing the tour, made one run at Nicklaus and even took a short-lived lead with an eagle 3 on the fourth hole.

But he bogeyed the next one as Jack was making birdie.

Dent had a 71 and tied for second at 276 with Bobby Mitchell and Larry Wood. Mitchell had a 66 and Wood 67. Bob Goalby, Frank Beard and Bert Yancey were next at 277.

Tenn. Tech Wins Rifle Championship

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP) — Tennessee Tech of Cookeville scored 2,309 out of a possible 2,400 points to win the 15th annual Kansas State University International Small Bore Rifle Tournament Sunday.

East Tennessee State of Johnson City followed with 2,300. Houston University took third with 2,275, followed by Tennessee Tech's number two team, with 2,265.

Tech's Ed Etzel fired 582 out of 600 to win individual honors. Tom Wasson of East Tennessee State followed with 581 points.

Mary Keys of East Tennessee State hit 578 to take top honors in girls' competition.

Murray State University of Kentucky won the women's division with 2,178 points, followed by Montana State with 2,130.

Tennessee Tech was also high in the ROTC division, with 2,240 points, 17 ahead of runner-up University of Minnesota.

High School honors went to Leavenworth, Kan., for the fifth straight year, with 2,178 points. Memorial High of Joplin, Mo., finished second with 2,104 points.

The best day of Lionel Herbert's golf career came 15 years ago last July when he edged Dow Finsterwald 2 and 1 for the PGA golf championship at Dayton, Ohio.

Oswald: "We haven't talked about our code word 'ARCH' for some time. Analyze the lead—Review the bidding—Count your winners and losers—How can I make the contract?"

Jim: "The Count of winners and losers with today's hand shows South that he must lose one diamond and one club. He may also lose a trick to the king of trumps and will have to lose a second club trick if East holds the ace of that suit."

Oswald: "A Review of the bidding tells him that East has less than seven high card points. He passed his partner's opening bid. The odds are also that any specific high card will be held by West."

Jim: "South also sees that he is in a pretty good contract and wants to give himself the best chance to make it. He knows that East can't hold an ace and a king. That would give him seven high card points."

Oswald: "After all that thought, South sees that he can afford to bang down his ace of hearts. It will cost him a trick if East holds the king but it won't be the contract. West just may hold a singleton king."

Jim: "Sure enough, West does hold it. South doesn't have to lose a trump trick and makes his game."

Cease-fire Concept Is Favored

By LOUIS HARRIS

The heart of the proposed Vietnam peace agreement, calling for a "cease-fire under which each side controls those parts of Vietnam they now occupy," meets with 56-29 per cent approval from the American people. However, by 50-33 per cent, the public disapproves "allowing a certain number of North Vietnamese troops to remain in South Vietnam in those areas controlled by the Communists."

Sizable majorities of the people give unqualified approval of the terms which have been outlined, with the only sticking point surrounding the continuance of Communist rule in those parts of South Vietnam now under Communist control. However, by 47-38 per cent, a plurality is willing to go along with the provision that Communist-held areas should remain that way "until there are national elections."

Here is public reaction to the main provisions of the agreement to end the war which have been reported:

✓ By 91-5 per cent, people approve "the exchange of all prisoners of war when all U.S. troops are withdrawn within 60 days."

✓ By 80-7 per cent, a big majority approve "the holding of national elections in all of South Vietnam within three months."

✓ By 80-8 per cent, a similar majority favor "international supervision of the cease-fire and elections in South Vietnam."

✓ By 80-11 per cent, a majority support the provision of "an end of U.S. bombing and mining of North Vietnam and withdrawal of all remaining U.S. troops and advisors within 60 days of the final agreement."

✓ By 70-12 per cent, the public also approves setting up "a National Council of Reconciliation in South Vietnam which has on it equal representation of the Thieu government, the Communists, and neutralist elements to work out arrangements for an election."

During the course of Dr. Henry Kissinger's renewed negotiations with North Vietnam in Paris Nov. 21 and 22, a cross section of 1,504 households across the country was asked a question identical to that asked on the eve of the election Nov. 5: "The United States and North Vietnam have agreed on a way to end the Vietnam war. From what you have read or heard of that agreement, do you feel that the peace terms agreed to are right and honorable for the U.S. to accept, or do you feel we are compromising too much to get peace?"

Vietnam Terms Right?

	Late Nov. %	Early Nov. %
Right and honorable	48	41
Compromising too much	26	30
Not sure	26	29

All in all, by nearly a 2-to-1 margin, those Americans with firm-ed-up opinions support the reported, agreed-to peace terms. Obviously, the most popular parts of the proposed pact are the exchange of the prisoners-of-war, the guarantee of early elections under international supervision, an end of U.S. bombing and mining of North Vietnam, and withdrawal of all American troops and advisors within 60 days of the agreement.

The National Council of Reconciliation, a coalition in nature but mediator in function, has not caused widespread opposition, although consistently American public opinion has opposed a coalition government as a solution to the war. Undoubtedly, one of the reasons for the 70 per cent support for the coalition National Council of Reconciliation is that it specifically is not to be given governing functions in the interim period before elections are held.

In many ways, the acid test for the agreement centers on the provision that the Communists should continue to rule those parts of Vietnam they now control. The cross section was asked: "Do you tend to approve or disapprove of a continuation of rule by the Communists in those areas they control until there are national elections?"

	Approve %	Disapprove %	Not Sure %
Nationwide	47	38	15
By Region
East	53	33	14
Midwest	50	38	12
South	35	44	21
West	51	37	12
By Age
18-29	49	39	12
30-49	54	33	13
50 and over	39	43	18
By Education
8th grade or less	36	39	25
High school	44	41	15
College	58	33	9
By Occupation
Professional	61	28	11
Executive, manager	49	37	14
White collar	52	33	15
Skilled labor	42	46	12
Unskilled labor	41	40	19

This division is a classic one, with the younger, better educated, professional and white collar groups, centered on the East and West coasts finally carrying the issue by a 47-38 per cent margin. Perhaps ironically, in the end, those groups which were most marked by opposition to the war finally have given approval to the terms being negotiated by President Nixon's representatives.

Follow Advice On Fast Heart

Dear Dr. Lamb — My problem is a fast heart. I went to the doctor but he said it isn't bad and really not fast enough to cause me to have a heart attack and that I should relax. He told me to stop smoking and quit drinking coffee and he gave me some B-12 and that was it. Well, I quit smoking for months and I didn't drink coffee. I drink tea. My heart went back to the way it should be, but I soon went back to smoking and drinking coffee and in the morning when I get up my heart beats so fast I get scared it will cause a heart attack. I am only 40 years old.

I am tired all the time. I have no interest in sex and my husband says I should see a doctor as I am not normal. At my age a person needs sex and all of them want it. I have been married to this man for four and one-half years and he is older than I and he has toughed it out without sex, but he says it is getting a little old now. Could this be from my heart beating so fast, or is it that I am just one of those people who don't need sex? I have been married five times, first at 15 years of age.

Dear Reader — My initial reaction is that anyone who has been married five times must have a basic reasonable interest in sex.

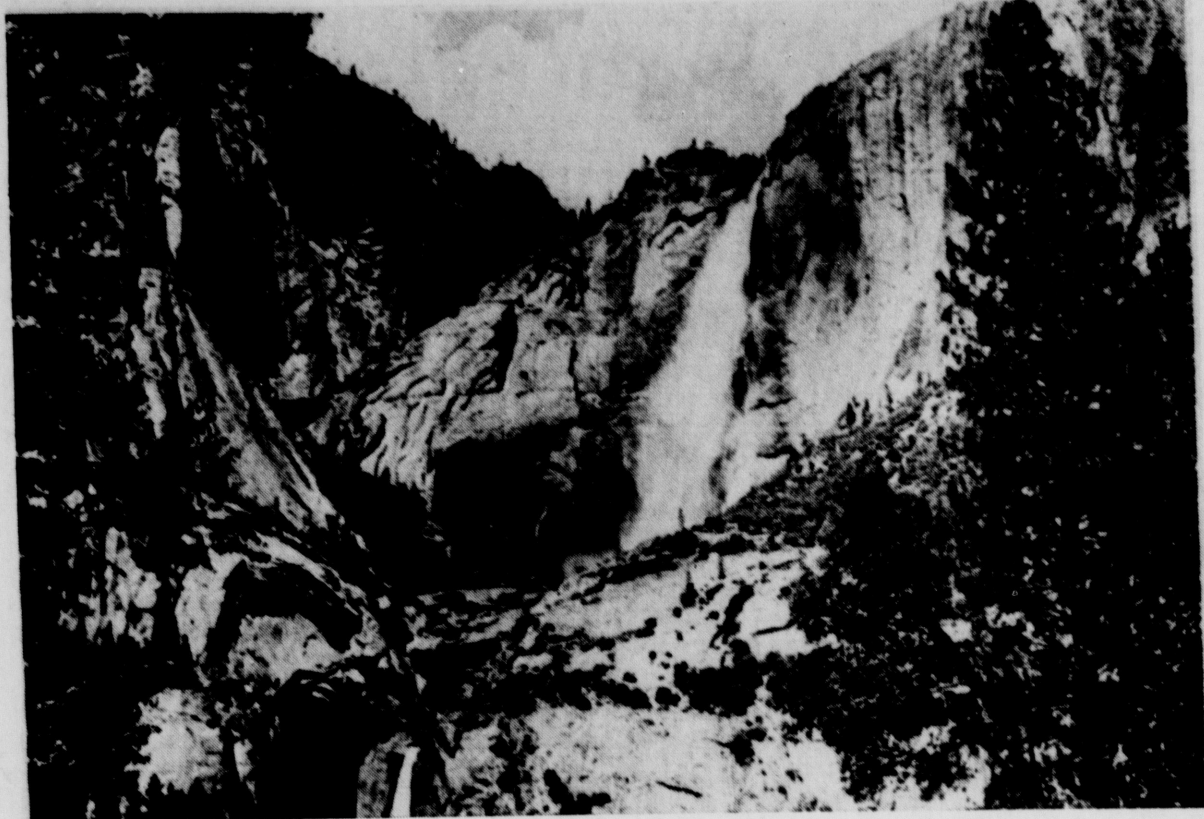

My second reaction is that if you would carefully follow your doctor's advice you might feel a lot better. You have already proved this once by following his advice for a period of time and noted during this interval that your heart functioned better.

It is perfectly true that both coffee and cigarettes tend to markedly increase the heart rate. Some people are more sensitive to these than others and may even have serious irregularities of the heart because of this habit. Your doctor gave you very sound advice and the real problem is that you didn't stick to it. I think you should gradually ease off the coffee and quit it entirely. Don't form a tea or cola habit either. Both also contain caffeine, the drug in coffee that causes the fast heart rate you complain about. Stop your cigarettes and start a reasonable and sensible exercise program. These things help increase a person's general sense of well-being and tend to decrease the sense of fatigue that you have.

There are many causes for fatigue, but if the doctor examines you and finds no serious medical problem, it is often related to one's living habits and, of course, one's interests in life. It is hard to have interests though, if you feel tired all of the time. So, why don't you go back to following your doctor's advice and start a regular exercise program, and it may improve your energy level. Once your energy level is improved, maybe the other aspects of your life will take care of themselves normally.

Incidentally, there are studies which strongly suggest that heavy smoking decreases sexual desire in both men and women. I should think this would be an adequate incentive to a large number of people to give up this useless and dangerous habit. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Death Falls

This National Park Service photo shows the 1,400-foot high upper Yosemite Falls over which two persons either fell or leaped to their deaths over the weekend. The body of a male was recovered from an ice cone which formed from mist at the base of the falls Sunday. Rangers were continuing their search for the second person, believed to be a female. (UPI)

New Budget Director Reveals Sale of Land

ELKO, Nev. (AP) — President Nixon's new budget director recently sold his half of a huge Nevada cattle ranch, part of which had been obtained in a land trade with the federal government.

Roy L. Ash said in a telephone interview that the sale of his interest in the 200,000-acre T Lazy S ranch was unrelated to his appointment as director of the White House Office of Management and Budget.

He said he had been looking for a buyer for about two years.

Records in the Elko County courthouse disclosed that Ash sold his ranching interest to his Litton Industries partner and the co-owner of the T Lazy S, Charles B. Thornton.

The courthouse records show only that Thornton paid $10 "and other good and valuable consideration."

Asked the actual selling price, Ash said it was a personal matter that he could not disclose without Thornton's permission.

Three years ago Ash and Thornton, who built Litton Industries into one of the nation's biggest defense contractors, picked up a 14,000-acre parcel of public land for about $10 an acre.

The deal was one of several trades involved in creation of Pt. Reyes National Seashore across the Golden Gate from San Francisco.

Ash and Thornton swapped 22 acres of oceanfront land in Pt. Reyes for the 14,145 acres of arid rangeland adjacent to their Nevada ranch.

They had paid $142,000 for the California land.

Ash and officials of the U.S. Bureau of Land Management said that despite the huge disparity in acreage the two parcels of land had the same monetary value.

Federal officials who regularly deal in land in northern Nevada said in interviews that they doubt there is any $10-an-acre land left in the state.

Jerry Hendershot, realty specialist for the BLM's Elko district, said the average price now being paid for ranchland in the area is $25 to $30 an acre.

Ash and Thornton were among several persons interested in obtaining public lands who stepped in when the Interior Department found itself short of cash to purchase privately owned property within the 55,000-acre Pt. Reyes seashore.

Consumer Deputy Making Her Mark

SEATTLE (AP) — Andrea Mangold has filled her shopping cart during the past two months in 13 stores where she's paid for hardly a thing.

Instead, two of the stores may have to pay fines for selling unsafe toys discovered on the shelves by Mrs. Mangold. A mother of three, she is an unpaid consumer deputy under a pilot program for the U.S. Food and Drug Administration.

Under the experiment, consumer volunteers in San Francisco, Chicago, Atlanta, Philadelphia and Seattle inspect stores to see if they're carrying any of some 800 toys banned as unsafe.

The Seattle office of the FDA said that, since the project was started Aug. 15, consumer deputies have checked 6,000 children's toys in 78 stores. One or more types of banned articles were found in 60 per cent of the stores, the FDA reported.

In a suburban discount house Sunday, Mrs. Mangold took less than an hour to fill her cart with toys she said could cause an infant to choke to death, seriously injure a baby's mouth or pinch and puncture a child's skin.

"Some of the managers will get down on their hands and knees checking toys with me," she said.

But that wasn't quite the case with two store managers who she said refused to remove the prohibited playthings. They will be visited by FDA inspectors and warned that continued sales of the offending items will be subject to action under the Hazardous Substances Act.

Mrs. Mangold said consumer deputies don't stop with the list of toys known to be dangerous.

"I continually find toys that aren't on the list but that I find potentially dangerous to a child," she said.

"I pull them off the shelves and show them to the manager. Some take them off, others won't. I pay for a toy like that and turn it over to the FDA for testing."

She said she also finds that some banned toys have been disguised by the manufacturer or distributor by pasting a new identification number over the number on the FDA blacklist.

Mrs. Mangold held up a rubber squeaker doll to illustrate the point. "See," she said, "old number and new number — and that squeaker plug is still there for a baby to get at and choke on. It's still the same old dangerous toy."

Possessions Might Reveal Personalities

NEW YORK (AP) — Who drives a chrome-heavy, bright red convertible?

An insecure, aggressive or defensive person is behind the wheel, according to Dr. Jean Rosenbaum, author of "Is Your Volkswagen A Sex Symbol?" The "Bug" driver, on the other hand, is concerned about economics, ecology and creativity.

Dr. Rosenbaum suggests that the automobile a person drives is a very real indicator of his self-image.

"Of course, one item alone doesn't tell much about an individual," he said in an interview here. "But in combination with other things—his home, habits, appearance and his pets—it tips off the secret life and self-image of every person."

The Colorado psychiatrist, who received degrees from Wayne State University and was resident psychiatrist at Detroit Receiving Hospital, approaches this glimpse of personal psychology with humor but feels it is a serious problem.

"What a person is saying with his manners and possessions is 'I am my house, my clothes, my car and my pets. Don't look at me, I don't mean anything. I have no problems,'" Rosenbaum explained. "The humorous look at these symptoms seems to 'unthreaten' people who read the book."

"They can be curious. On television and radio talk shows, I'm often asked to draw 'habits' of individuals. People sit up and pay attention for it explains problems they have with sex, personalities and personal lives," he said.

The psychoanalyst says he is happy his book has been so successful.

"Now I'll be able to sell other, deeper, more serious books I've written."

With his pretty brunette wife, Veryl, also a psychoanalyst, Rosenbaum has written another, quite different book, "The Psychiatrist's Cook Book." It features specialties such as Mother's Milk Soup, Sensuous Shrimp and Sex Sauce.

The Rosenbaum sons are 9, 11, 14 and 15.

"They tell people who ask what their parents do that psychoanalysts are doctors helping people who have problems with their heart. We like that explanation," Dr. Veryl Rosenbaum said.

Their patients—they share a practice—may choose either doctor. If they don't relate to one, they may change to the other.

"We tell people that we were unhappy, neurotic people in our childhood. If we can become well adjusted, loving people and discuss our own problems openly, so can they," Rosenbaum added.

"There is more psychology in the kitchen at our house than most people get on the couch in a large city. People come from New York or Los Angeles and stay with us for three to six months. We have a mixed practice made up primarily of adolescents."

"Sometimes the kids get a job, giving them autonomy from their parents. There's a college nearby, so some go to school. If we do good work, these kids are our best references. Their friends say, 'What happened to you? You look great,'" he said.

In 17 years of practice as psychoanalysts, the doctors have seen many changes. At first, young people had sexual problems. The sex revolution has removed most of those, Dr. Jean Rosenbaum said.

"Then came identity problems. The changing value system and fading family were things they could not relate to or put together themselves. Teens shifted to aggression, became bombmakers, joined communes, got involved in drugs. I believe this is fading," he added.

"Now adolescents are coming to us with problems about love. I view this as a growth process. Without love, life isn't worthwhile to these young people. This is very, very healthy, for all of us."

Rosenbaum said he is now beginning to treat older people for the first time.

"Psychiatry used to write them off because they were old," he said. "Now, we treat them because we feel everyone should make the best of his or her life."

The success of his humorous look at habits, now in its fifth printing and a book club selection, is gratifying to Rosenbaum.

"For years, I wrote poetry ... a poem a day. But that's published in specialty magazines, and nobody reads those except other poets. Now I write the poem in my mind and channel my writing in other directions."

Earthquake Monitored At Boulder

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — A large earthquake, measuring 7.4 on the Richter scale, was recorded at 5:16 a.m. EST today 240 miles from Tokyo, according to officials at the National Earthquake Information Center here.

Authorities said no immediate reports of damage had been received by the center. Reports from Tokyo indicated the tremor rattled windows and toppled flower vases.

The Japanese Central Meteorological Agency said the center of the tremor was near Hachijo Island, about 200 miles south of the capital. No information was available immediately about damage on the island because of poor communications.

The quake is the second large disturbance monitored in the Pacific in three days. Friday night, an earthquake that measured 7.7 on the Richter scale was monitored off the coast of the Philippines.

The Japanese agency issued a tidalwave warning for the central and southern Pacific Coast of Honshu, Japan's main island. It said waves perhaps six feet high could hit the area.

To Issue Regulations On Lead-free Gasoline

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency soon will issue regulations to make lead-free gasoline available in time for 1975-model autos and their lead-hating antipollution devices, agency sources say.

But a planned reduction of lead in all grades of gasoline probably will be postponed for further public discussion, and thus postponed for about a year.

Once the review is completed, however, EPA may extend its original proposal into a complete phaseout, leaving no leaded gasoline on the market at all.

EPA last Feb. 22 proposed that 65 per cent of the nation's service stations be required to sell at least one grade of lead-free gasoline by July 1, 1974—that is, a 91-octane gasoline containing no more than 0.05 grams of lead per gallon.

Sources said EPA is sticking to this regulation and will issue it officially, despite oil-industry complaints that it is too tough.

While petroleum spokesmen argued for a more lenient standard in public hearings last March, automakers testified a few blocks away that their cars could meet 1975 antipollution standards only if gasoline lead is held to the EPA limit or lower.

Meanwhile, after EPA scientists said lead in auto exhaust could pose a health hazard, the agency proposed a phasedown beginning July 1, 1974, with a limit of 2.0 grams of lead per gallon.

The plan would have brought the lead level down, in steps, to 1.25 grams per gallon by Jan. 1, 1977.

But the EPA health study was criticized and a new study was conducted. And EPA experts say the new study reinforces their original conclusion. "It doesn't support a two-gram level," said one EPA source.

"It supports taking it all out. Under this new document we would later propose a new phase reducing the lead essentially to zero."

Because the phasedown would then be based on a completely different health report, he said, EPA believes it must repropose that part of the regulation and allow renewed public comment.

"We're talking about a one-year delay," he said, "but it is not a matter of dropping phased reduction."

To keep up octane ratings for present autos, the lead probably would be replaced by more costly petroleum aromatics.

EPA estimated the change might add about 1.65 cents per gallon to gasoline prices by 1980.

Holiday Disaster For 155

SANTA CRUZ DE TENERIFE, Canary Islands (AP) — A holiday for European tourists ended in disaster Sunday when their homeward-bound jetliner crashed moments after takeoff, killing all 155 persons aboard. Most of the dead were Germans.

Witnesses said the Convair 990A, owned by the Spanish charter airline Spantax, got only 300 feet off the runway before one of its four engines burst into flames and the plane crashed on this Atlantic island off North Africa.

Spantax officials said there was no reason to suspect sabotage, but the airline said it was investigating the possibility.

The dead included 143 West Germans on a trip organized by a bus owners' association in Bavaria, three Austrians, two Italians and seven Spanish crew members.

It was Spanish aviation's worst disaster, the fourth worst crash in aviation history and the seventh this year in which more than 100 persons died. The worst crash in aviation history occurred in October outside Moscow when 176 persons were killed in the crash of a Soviet jetliner.

The only victim of the crash found alive was a young woman who kept repeating: "Save me, save me." Police said she died within minutes of reaching a hospital.

Officials said the victims were badly burned and mutilated.

A German team of 20 government officials, including five fingerprint experts, flew into Santa Cruz late Sunday to help with the identification of bodies and the investigation of the crash.

Soccer MVP Award Won By Allison

DUNN, N.C. (AP) — Goalie Garv Allison of Westmont, Calif., has been named most valuable player of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics' national soccer tournament.

Allison was picked following the Westmont team's 2-1 victory over Davis and Elkins, W.Va., in two overtime Saturday for the national NAIA title.

Allison also was named to the all-tournament team, as were teammates Jorge Bergen, Tamarr Aslaw and Jean Paul Voorhees at forward. Voorhees was chosen the outstanding forward in the eight-team field.

Wash Dainty Items Inside Nylon Bag

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — My Pointer is especially for those people who do their washing at a coin laundry. Use a bag for washing hose, slips and various undergarments. Take a pair of discarded nylons, pull one hose inside the other so the top edges are even and in a double layer and then stitch completely around this double edge on the sewing machine. Cut off one foot and turn inside out and have a bag long enough for a slip as a single stocking is not long enough. Put slip or whatever inside the bag and knot the end. Do not remove until this has been through the dryer, too. This gives added protection to such things as hooks and eyes which catch in the dryer. Old support hose also are fine for this. —HAZEL

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — Is there any way to remove crayon marks from a wall without removing the paint with it? I have tried everything I know. It either smears the crayon worse than ever or removes the paint with the crayon. Please help us. —MISS M.F.B.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with those telephone solicitors who begin their sales pitch with a "survey" and ask a lot of questions rather than getting right to point. —JEANETTE

DEAR POLLY — Ann was complaining that zippers for men's trousers only come in the 11-inch size. If she had read the directions on those zippers she would have learned that they will accommodate any length desired — 11 inches and smaller. The directions on the package show the user how to put the zipper in and then cut off the top to a desired length. In addition to the Pointer sent in by Audrey on keeping the cut end of a cake from becoming stale I also use the method she suggested for keeping cookies soft. Place a slice of bread in the container with the cookies. They stay fresh as long as they last, which is not too long at my house. When the bread becomes hard you know the moisture in the bread has been absorbed by the cookies and should be replaced with a fresh piece. This is a good use for a heel of bread since it is often discarded. —MRS. L.Y.

DEAR POLLY — That one-third of lipstick left in the bottom of the tube can be removed and put in a tidy and attractive container to be used for cream rouge that will match your lipstick. —RUBY

For Women

Fashion News for Men Includes High Heel Shoes

By JOSEPH YUSIF
NEW YORK (AP)—The elegant international man with conservative tastes is back in vogue for 1973 if recent fashion previews are an indication.

British designer Hardy Amies previewed his International Menswear Trend Collection for the fall of 1973. There are no way-out presentations in the new Amies line. His collection, aimed mainly at the upper crust of the mass volume market, is restrained and in step with the creations of other international men's designers. This means that next year's fashionable male should expect to find that very dark and sombre colors are in; wide knit ties are in; wide and peaked lapels are in; waistcoats are in; pleats and wide cuffs are in.

The look remains long, lean, and flattering. Suits and sportswear of charcoal browns and deep dark greens will give prominence to brighter accessory colors and emphasize the importance of cut and styling.

Jackets will remain long, close fitting, shaped at the waist, and slightly shaped at the shoulder with two-button fastening. Many will have center vents or no vents at all. Lapels will remain very wide, featuring different reverse and top collar treatments. The wide lapels are balanced by wide trousers.

The trouser look is very important. They'll be pleated, fit snugly over the hips and taper out to feature deep cuffs that are generally 25 inches wide and 2 inches deep. Legs will be longer, breaking slightly at the front of the shoe.

Suits will be complemented with 4 to 5-button waistcoats, some of which will be sewn-off at the waist. The vests will generally show more shirt and more tie than their classic predecessors.

Amies emphasizes that accessories must complement the total look since balance is the basis for styling.

Shirts will continue with the elongated collar points to balance the wide lapels. The collar spread will be slightly wider to accommodate wider ties.

A most important accessory to the new look is the high-heeled shoe. Amies believes that a heel 2 to 2½ inches high is most comfortable for walking and balancing the wide-cuffed trousers.

As for casual clothes, Hardy Amies says his approach is uncontrived and "very functional—pockets to put hands in, gloves in. Collars that button up, zip up, and stay up."

the boss' promise

VALUE:

Your money should buy the maximum quality at a minimum price. But my promise to you is that for value, nobody in town can or will offer you more value for your money than Kroger.

If for any reason you feel that any part of my promise is not being fulfilled to you, I want to hear from you directly. Simply ask your Kroger store manager for my private number and call me.

We're dedicated to the proposition that there's always something extra in store for you at Kroger, and I want to follow through personally on my promise to see that you get it.
